MacArthur Takes Prisoners

Washington
Jan. 31 (AP)

U. S. OFFICIAL

Gen. Douglas McArthur reported today his American-Filipino defenders of the Batan Peninsula in the Philippines had frustrated determined enemy attempts at infiltration through the lines in the past 24 hours.

The War Dept. said in a morning communique thatsome Japanese prisoners were taken.

Fighting on the peninsula, where fresh enemy troops have been arriving amid apparent Japanese preparations for resumption of a large scale offensive, was said in the communique to have been only sporadic in nature. Virtually no hostile air activity was noted.

After 29 days of siege, Gen. MacArthur gave no indication of where he expected the new attack to center.

The temper of his warriors as the zero hour approached was shown in an earlier communique.

It told how "Gen MacArthur and his troops paid no attention" to demands for surrender in a Japanese air force leaflet raid of Jan. 10 and how a new Japanese appeal yesterday, directed at Filipino troops, "occasioned much mirth among the Filipino soldiers, who are continuing their resistance with loyalty, courage and resolution."

The original surrender demand was showered down on the defenders' front lines three weeks ago, on the day before the first major Japanese attack. Signed, "Commander-in-chief, the Japanese expeditionary forces," it was addressed to MacArthur.

"You are well aware that you are doomed," it said. "The end is near. The question is how long you will be able to resist. You have already cut rations by half. I appreciate the fighting spirit of yourself and your troops, who have been fighting with courage. Your prestige and honor have been upheld.

"However, in order to avoid needless bloodshed . . . you are advised to surrender."

The new appeal, "to the Filipino soldiers," was printed on the back of the original leaflet.

"Dear Filipino soldiers, there are still one way left to you," said the crudely written message. "That is to give up all your weapons at once and surrender to the Japanese forces before it is too late, then we shall fully protect you."

The Man and His Defense Task

GEN. A. E. PERCIVAL

LT.-GEN. ARTHUR ERNEST PERCIVAL, defender of Singapore, gave up his job as a city clerk at 27 to become a private in the British Army.

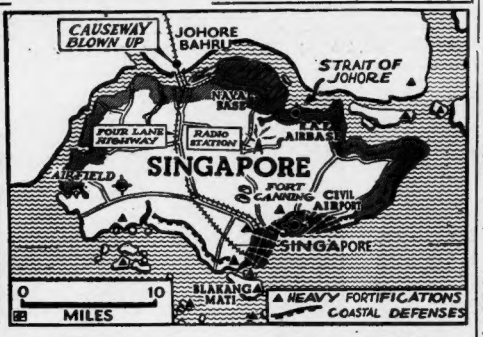
He won swift promotion and, during the first World War, still under 30, commanded a battalion in active service.

When the war began in 1939, Percival was a brigadier on the general staff at Aldershot. He had served previously in Malaya as a staff officer from 1936 to 1938 and wis put in command in Malaya again last April.

In November, shortly before the Japanese attacked, he directed maneuvers based on the supposition that the Japanese were attticking Singapore by air.

Lieut.-Gen. Percival was born in Aspenden, Hertfordshire, England, Dec. 26, 1887.

During the first World War he won the French Croix de Guerre and the British Distinguished Service Order. He was decorated with the Order of the British Empire in 1921 and later was awarded the Military Cross.



SIEGE OF SINGAPORE—With the withdrawal of British imperial forces to the island, the siege of Singapore has begun today after two months of fighting in which the Japanese juggernaut rolled 350 miles down the Malayan peninsular. Retreating British have blown up the causeway from the state of Johore to the island. Shaded area shows mile-deep defense area which will be used to repulse invasion attempts.

JAP'S FIFTH FRONT OPENED ON DUTCH ISLE

Batavia, N. E. I.
Jan. 31 (AP)

OFFICIAL NEWS

The Japs have opened a fifth front in the battle of the East Indies with a furious assault from land and sea on Amboina island, site of the second most important naval base in this archipelago, and the Dutch declared today fighting was "raging everywhere."

"Today at 6:20 a. m. enemy ships and aircraft were shelling and bombing the island and the battle was raging everywhere," the Netherland East Indies high command announced in a communique.

It reported a Dutch warship, keeping up the Netherlands schedule of hitting the Japanese fleet and merchant ships at a one-a-day clip, destroyed a Japanese submarine in Indies waters by depth charges.

The Dutch tersely announced that once again they had destroyed vital points in Amboina and vicinity—carrying out on another island the policy of putting to the torch or blasting their riches to keep them from falling to the Japs.

Similar destruction was done to oil and other items when the Japanese invaded the Celebes, Tarakan island, and even before the Japanese sailed against the important

U-BOAT FIRES 15 TIMES TO SINK TANKER

Norfolk, Va.
Jan. 31 (AP)

U. S. Official

A story of "bum shooting" on the part of unusually polite German U-boat crewmen was told by the 30 survivors of the tanker Rochester when they were landed at the naval operating base here today. The tanker was sunk in daylight off Virginia yesterday.

The 6836-ton tanker, Riding Light, was torpedoed without warning. The submarine pierced the aft portion of the ship with two torpedoes and fired 13 shells at the hulk.

The first torpedo hit in the engine room and trapped three of the "black gang" there. Capt. A. L. Clark said the three men were killed by the explosion or escaping steam.

Capt. Clark, a native of West Medford, Mass., was not 'too amazed" or "too confused," he said, because in the first World War two merchant vessels were sunk under him by enemy torpedoes.

LAUNCHED 2 LIFEBOATS

L. J. Davidson, of Little Falls, N. J., chief officer of the tanker, owned by the Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. of New York city, related that two lifeboats were lowered within six or seven minutes after the first torpedo struck. A second torpedo was fired into the port side of the stricken vessel a few moments later.

Then the sub came to the surface and hurled 13 shells, several of them missing their target, Davidson said,

OFFICIAL NEWS

By C. YATES McDANIEL

The siege of Singapore began today with the withdrawal of weary British imperial soldiers to the island under cover of darkness, and the British commander in Malaya called on every man and woman in Singapore to help defend "this fortress until help can come."

"Today we stand beleaguered in our island fortress," declared a statement by Lieut.-Gen A. E. Percival, the British commander who rose from the ranks to command the army defending this $400,000,000 stronghold.

The Brtish Far East command announced that the short causeway from the state of Johore to the island was breached, with the aid of the Royal Navy and the RAF, after the withdrawal of the British, Australian and Indian soldiers had been effected last night.

The front yesterday had extended across the peninsula roughly 18 to 40 miles above Johore Strait.

The causeway, 60 feet wide and three-quarters of a mile long, runs way station on the peninsula after

The British said the Japanese made little effort to interfere with the withdrawal to the island.

British Quit Moulmein

Official News

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 31 (AP).—Evacuation of Moulmein was announced officially today by the British, who said "our troops have withdrawn over the Salween river after removing all stores and equipment."

The announcement declared heavy casualties had been inflicted on the Japanese by defense forces which beat off attack after attack until dawn today.

(The Salween flows from the north and empties into the Gulf of Martaban at Moulmein, 100 miles east across the gulf from Rangoon. It had been mentioned as a possible first defense line for the British stand in Burma.)

Farm Bloc Senators Snub FD on Prices

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Farm state senators brushed aside President Roosevelt's criticism of agricultural provisions of the price control law and called on Secretary of Agriculture Wickard today for a statement of his policies under the measure.

The Senate Agriculture committee summoned Wickard to testify at a closed session today in connection with his recent statements that farm prices ought not to go much over parity.

In signing the price control bill yesterday, President Roosevelt said that there was real danger in a provision which prevents the fixing of ceilings on agricultural products below 110 per cent of parity, a basic price calculated to give farmers equality in purchasing power with others.

Although the President said that, if need be, Congress could be asked to correct the 110 per cent parity section by amending the law, farm bloc members made it plain any such proposal would provoke a bitter controversy.

Senator Gillette (D.) of Iowa said he would oppose any change of this nature and predicted that it would be defeated. That latitude of 10 per cent, he told reporters, was the only means of assuring farmers that they actually would get parity for what they produced.

DOUBTS BID UP

He said most farm prices were fixed on trading markets, and added that no one who expected to make a resale profit would bid a price up to full parity if he felt that a ceiling was to be placed on the product at that point.

Senator O'Mahoney (D.) of Wyoming, asserted further than parity, as it has been established in the past, had lost its practical relationship to agricultural prices because the major share of industrial production soon would be in war goods and not the things that farmers buy.

HENDERSON CURBED

Under terms of the new law, Leon Henderson, who is to be named administrator, cannot establish any farm price of which Wickard does not approve.

In signing the bill, President Roosevelt warned that enactment of the legislation did not mean that the fight against inflation had been won.

He called for vigorous enforcement of its provisions, adding that undoubtedly the toes of a great many people must be stepped on in administering it.

DEFENSE BOND DRAWING—Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall draws the number that won the $1000 defense bond for William B. Harris of Roxbury at the President's Birthday Ball. She turns it over to U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon.

BIRTHDAY FETES BRING RECORD FUND IN STATE

With a "March of Dimes" that seemingly had no ending, Massachusetts rolled up a fund to fight infantile paralysis that almost doubled that of last year.

This was the declaration of officials today after the Bay State had paid tribute to President Roosevelt at 60 birthday balls—highlighted by a record-breaking throng of 22,000 at the celebration in Boston Garden.

A total of about $30,000 came from the Boston ball alone. And this was by no means a final figure. Contributions still were pouring in.

U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon, chairman of the ball committee, expressed his appreciation to all who made the affair such a success.

Officers of the Army and Navy in military splendor, elisted men of the same services, public officials, churchmen and civilians were included in the throng that filled the Garden to its very doors.

STAND IN SILENT PRAYER

Wearing at their lapels the red, white and blue Diamond Jubilee pin, emblematic of participation in the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the huge crowd interrupted the gaiety of the celebration to stand in silent prayer and hear the President's birthday message, broadcast to the nation over the combined facilities of all the country's radio networks.

And still standing in silence, they heard voiced the prayer of all New England that the President be "given the grace of God to carry on and preserve the ideals of this nation."

The $1000 Defense Bond was won by William B. Harris, Brinton st.,

HITLER'S WAR ON RELIGION

COURAGEOUS CLERGY DEFY NAZI PAGANISM IN THE FACE OF DEATH

By FRAU ELISABETH MEYER

DESPITE Adolf Hitler's vicious persecution of religion in Germany today, there are courageous and able churchmen, both Catholic and Protestant, whose voices rise in defiant challenge to the blasphemous tyranny of the Third Reich.

I have already paid tribute to the great Cardinal Faulhaber, Archbishop of Munich, who at the risk of his life and freedom has condemned with burning words the pagan persecution of his church.

The Cardinal has so far escaped death, although he narrowly missed assassination at the hands of brutal Storm Troopers. But he has sacrificed his freedom. He is "confined to the episcopal residence" in Munich and is restrained from performing religious functions.

The world knows the story of the heroic Pastor Neimoeller, the former U-boat captain of the last war who, even from his prison cell, has for years thundered against the affront to freedom of soul and spirit which the Nazis have hurled against Christians and Jews alike.

There is one other famed and honored churchman who has courageously and consistently condemned the cowardly brutality of the Gestapo in their war against religion.

He is Bishop Clemens August Count von Galen of Muenster, member of a wealthy and aristocratic family and, before Hitler's rise to power, one of Germany's most powerful and most beloved priests.

Three times from the altar of his cathedral he has denounced Nazism and its program of religious persecution. Despite threats upon his life, despite the imminent risk of imprisonment, he has not hesitated to brand the Nazis as the enemies of God.

REV. COUNT A. GALEN

In his most recent sermon Bishop von Galen charged that the present government of the Reich deliberately violated all ten Commandments. He said:

"Is history repeating itself here in Germany, in our land of [illegible]alia, in our city of Muenster? The Eighth Command[illegible]ays down: 'Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.' How often do we see this commandment violated publicly and with impunity?

"The Seventh Commandment says: 'Thou shalt not steal,' but can we say that property and possessions are being respected when our Brothers and our Sisters, our monks and nuns, are forcibly and brutally robbed of their convents; and who protects property now if it is illegally seized and not restored?

"The Sixth Commandment is: 'Thou shalt not commit adultery.' Think of the instructions and promises given on the question of free love and maternity outside marriage in the notorious open letter published in the journals of Rudolph Hess, who has since disappeared.

"And in matters of this kind what indecency and vulgarity do we not everywhere, even in Muenster? To what lengths has not the impropriety of dress gone among our young people? That is how modesty, the guardian of purity, is being destroyed and the way prepared for unchastity in the future.

"And how is it one observes the Fourth Commandment, which orders respect and obedience to parents and superiors? The authority of parents has greatly diminished and is more and more shaken by the demands made upon the young against the wishes of their parents.

"How do you think one can preserve a genuine respect and conscientious obedience toward State authority if one continues to violate the Commandments of the Supreme Authority, the Commandments of God; if one is fighting against, and trying to destroy faith in the only true God, the Supreme Being, the Lord of Heaven and Earth?"

PASSAGE OF 7 MILLION WAR EMERGENCY BILL CONSIDERED CERTAIN

Gov. Saltonstall's $7,000,000 war emergency bill faced its final hurdles in the legislature today with every indication that nightfall would see the 15-point program a law with only minor changes.

Among the matters still to be approved was that of salary increases but it was predicted the Senate would concur with the House, which already has approved the Governor's requests.

The House voted to give all State employes receiving less than $1500 annually an additional $150 a year and $100 to those receiving up to $2480. Although there were moves to provide raises for those above the $2500 bracket, administration leaders said they had sufficient votes to roll the House bill into law.

Major remaining business centered around finance with the House ways and means committee ready to report on the Governor's request for a $7,000,000 war chest.

MEAL TAX STAYS

The important matter of funds, and where they are coming from, was scheduled for consideration early this afternoon.

One more disagreement between the two branches was yet to be ironed out. That concerned action by the House in prohibiting the State Committee on Public Safety from placing aliens on its payrolls. Because of the need of those who have been through European bombing, the Senate amended the bill to include employment of allied nationals and the amendment must go back to the House.

At the same time, the Senate killed by a 16 to 15 vote the House-approved order requiring Tax Commr. Henry F. Long to confer with the Atty.Gen. on administration of the state meal tax.

DOLAN AGAINST CHANGE

Democratic Floor Leader Chester A. Dolan, Jr., of Jamaica Plain, joined with Republican Sen. Donald W. Nicholson of Wareham in opposing the meal tax order, on the ground the tax commissioner is responsible to the Governor.

"We are interfering with the executive branch," said Nicholson. "If something is wrong it is up to the governor to take care of it. The attorney general has no more right to run the tax commissioner's office than I have."

The order, as drafted by the House rules committee, specified that five per cent tax applied only to individual meals costing over $1 and directed Commr. Long to consult the attorney general in all his rulings. Hotel and restaurant men had complained Long was demanding the tax when several checks totalled over $1, even when flowers, tobacco and liquor were included, and the individual meals were less than $1.

This 'Tip' Gives Police Workout

Boys playing in an Albany st., South End, lumber yard today unintentionally sent Boston police scurrying to rescue a "drowning man" in South Bay channel.

The call for help was given by a passenger on a passing train to Traffic Officer Daniel Donohue when he arrived at South Station. The informant said he saw someone leap into the water from the lumber yard dock.

After several hours of dragging, police were told the commuter "must be mistaken" and that boys frequently jumped from lumber piles to the ground and may have given the commuter the impression they were landing in the water.

Only 1 in 3 Has Auto-Use Sticker Here

You are flirting with punishment if you drive without a U. S. auto-use sticker Monday or thereafter.

The sticker costs $2.09 (and today is the last day to secure one if your car is now on the road), but it may cost you a $25 fine and 30 days in jail (maximum penalty) if you drive without one after Monday.

State registry men and Internal Revenue inspectors will be watching for delinquent motorists, and when they find one the name, address, registration and license numbers will be turned over to the U. S. district attorney.

It appears there will be plenty of erring motorists about.

Of the approximately 1,100,000 registered cars and trucks in this State, only 300,000 owners had purchased stickers up to today.

Although today was set as the deadline for buying the stickers for motor vehicles now registered, the Treasury Department said it would accept the money to any tme, so that motorists will be able to buy them after today—but don't drive without one.

Potentially, every federal employe is an inspector and may report ofenders.

JUDGE BROGNA DEFERS TOBIN CASE RULING

With proceedings for the ouster of Mayor Tobin for alleged corrupt practices hinging on his decision, Judge Vincent J. Brogna today took under advisement in Suffolk court the conflicting exceptions of the opposing attorneys.

Tobin filed exception to Brogna's ruling that permitted the addition of two signatures, those of Ethel M. Williams and Edward C. Monahan, to the original petition. He sought to have the Supreme Court decide on the validity of Brogna's ruling.

FUND DRIVE WORKERS PUT IN FULL WEEK-END

With a challenge to all on the home front, Maynard Hutchinson, general chairman of the Greater Boston United War Fund, today ordered 30,000 volunteer workers to a full week-end drive on the goal of $7,600,000.

The fund leader reported subscriptions of $4,295,000, well over the half-way mark, but emphasized that the time is short and that the present week-end cannot be wasted.

"Most of us give two or even four times as much as ever before to meet the challenge," Chairman Hutchinson said.

"Gen. McArthur and his men are on the firing line every minute, fighting with vigor and courage, according to the best traditions of our country. Let us too get on the fighting line—this afternoon—tonight—and all day tomorrow.

MANY SMALL DONORS

"Let us uphold the best traditions of our community and country. Let us turn in a whopping result for the Monday noon report meeting and show the community we are going to win this big home battle."

Meanwhile there came donations from many that barely could afford them but were determined to do their bit.

An elderly couple came to the campaign headquarters on Federal st. and turned over 10 of the large, old denomination $1 bills. They said they lived in Somerville but declined to give their names.

"We have one son in the Navy and another in the Army," the couple told officials. "We want to see that they are well taken care of."

GRATEFUL FOR USO

Another such gift came from a Navy sailor, serving with the Atlantic fleet, who said:

"I'm from Greater Boston but I'm in the Navy. I want to tell you how wonderful the USO has been and that they deserve plenty of support."

At the same time it was announced that the special gifts division, John A. Tuckerman, chairman, was leading in the division standings with 88.8 per cent of its quota raised. In second place was the industrial division, Joseph P. Spang, Jr., chairman, with 52.5 per cent.

Warm Springs Paralysis Aid Helps 90 P. C.

By G. B. LAL

International News Service Science Editor

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Jan. 31—About 90 out of every 100 patients of infantile paralysis are measurably "improved" as the result of the specific treatments given to them by the medical department of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation.

By improvement, Dr. Charles Edwin Irwin, chief surgeon, means that the patient is capable of using the affected muscles to an appreciable degree. Some patients leave here astonishingly improved, with recovery of lost muscular abilities.

In the opinion of the medical authorities here, it is very misleading to talk of "a treatment for infantile paralysis."

What they have are several methods of treatment, several kinds of treatment, and for each patient, according to his particular "pathology," damaged tissues, a suitable treatment or treatments are devised.

NAZI CLERGY RISK DEATH TO DEFY HITLER

The observance of the first three Commandments, Bishop von Galen declares, has long been violated throughout the Third Reich.

"Many desecrate and secularize Sunday and feast days and try to remove them from the service of God," he says. "The name of God is constantly ridiculed, dishonored and blasphemed, and as for the First Commandment—men have created according to their own good pleasure false gods to adore—nature, the state, the people, or the race.

"Is it surprising, then, that they try also to claim divine prerogatives, and to make themselves the masters of life and death of their neighbors?"

In final warning Bishop von Galen thunders:

"If there are some who continue to provoke the wrath of God, who blaspheme our faith, who despise God's Commandments, who make common cause with those who drive our young men from their religion; who despoil and expel our monks and nuns, who deliver over to death innocent human beings, our brothers and sisters, then we refuse to consort with such people.

"We withdraw ourselves from their influence, so as not to become their accomplices and expose ourselves to the punishment which the God of Justice should and will administer to all those who, like the ungrateful city of Jerusalem, do not wish what God wishes."

These are brave words, and uttered at the risk of death. But there are churchmen of varying faiths in Germany who, rather than risk spiritual death, denounce from their hearts the godless tyranny of Adolf Hitler and the Third Reich.

(For further details of Adolf Hitler's religious persecution in Germany read Monday's Boston American.)

"SPARKS" STAYED ON JOB

Charles McDonald, Wichita, Kan., radio operator, was on watch at the time of the attack. He sent two SOS calls and received several answers before abandoning his post.

Of him, Capt. Clark said: "He did a magnificent job."

McDonald said he saw the submarine clearly and felt that it was much smaller than the usual run of undersea boat.

The men were in the lifeboats for two and a half hours and they reported that their only thought on sighting the rescue vessel was food. They had abandoned ship just as the watch was changing and as dinner was about to be served.

Among the survivors are Leon J. Green, Lubec, Me., able seaman; Ole Hansen, Providence, R. I., pump man, and Francis Boudreau, second mate, 181 second st., Taunton, Mass.

Torpedoing of the Rochester was the 15th announced attack on coast shipping by enemy submarines operating along the Canadian and United States Atlantic seaboard. Two, the Malay and the Pan Maine, both tankers, escaped sinking.

The safety of the Pan Maine was announced by the Navy shortly before the report of the attack on the Rochester when the Pan Maine reached an Atlantic port.

19 Unarmed Fliers Capture 100 Italians

By EDWARD KENNEDY

WITH THE RAF IN NORTH AFRICA (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Shot down into the Mediterranean, 19 crewmen of an RAF Sunderland flying boat have reached their base with 100 Italian prisoners after swimming to shore through rough seas and hiking across the Libyan desert with the captives.

The British plane was attacked by two German Messerschmitts. One was shot down and other damaged and driven off, but the Sunderland also was hit and its starboard engines stopped. The big craft hit the sea hard, bounced 50 feet, and finally came to rest four and a half miles off the African shore. One passenger had been killed in the attack and a gunner was wounded critically.

The crippled craft drifted inshore and finally sank. The gunner was placed in a rubber dinghy and the others—19 men and a dog—swam beside it to shore near Apollonia. There the unarmed Britons encountered an isolated party of 40 or 50 Italian soldiers who claimed them as prisoners.

ITALIAN OFFICERS SORE

The mixed band started along the coast, carrying the gunner on an improvised stretcher.

The next day they met 20 Italian officers. Embittered because, they said, the Germans had taken their vehicles, these officers proposed that in return for their help they be given favored treatment if they fell into British hands.

After that, it became difficult to distinguish between captors and prisoners.

An Italian major publicly flogged an Italian soldier who had made off with the wounded gunner's flying boots.

Next day the gunner died, and the Italian major conducted a military burial.

MORE ITALIANS JOIN

Then the major proposed that his party head for Bengasi, leaving the British with rifles to fend for themselves. The RAF leader insisted Bengasi had fallen to the British. The Italians at first were skeptical, but finally were convinced and gave up the idea of trying to regain the Axis lines.

Then the whole group set out eastward toward the British lines. From time to time other straggling Italians joined the party. Eventually the RAF men trudged in with a few hundred prisoners.

Perhaps one of the oddest angles of the adventure was that an RAF sergeant who had a small camera made a photographic record of it—and the Italians were as anxious to get into the pictures as were the British.

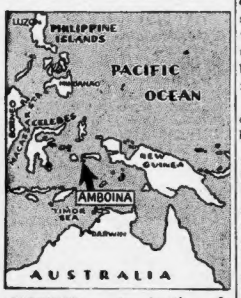
oil port of Balik Papan, on the east coast of Borneo. The Japs also have invaded the west coast of Borneo, at Pemangkat.

The official announcement of the high command revealed the Dutch had shadowed for some days the Japanese convoy sent against Amboina and that on Thursday it became obvious where the attack would be made.

"The attack began early Friday with air attacks," the communique distributed by Aneta, Dutch news service, continued.

"From 7:45 until 9:45 a. m. bombers, protected by fighters, bombed and machine gunned.



BESIEGED — As battle of Singapore begins, the Japanese open a fifth front with a furious assault from sea and land on Amboina Island (arrow), important Dutch naval base.

The Japanese succeeded in destroying a church and school building and inflicted slight damage to a radio station. No casualties were reported.

"An enemy transport fleet was spotted. At 1 p. m. it was seen from Amboina.

"All preparatory destruction of vital points in Amboina and vicinity were ordered and immediately carried out.

"In the evening the enemy began the real attack. At several points along the coast cruisers, destroyers and transport ships were lying, while on various places destruction was still burning."

Amboina, about midway between the Celebes and New Guinea, is in the Molucca islands, about 775 miles south of Mindanao island in the Philippines, where the Japanese have a base at Davao, and about 634 miles north of Darwin, Australia, site of an Australian naval base.

Informed sources told Aneta News Agency the attack on Amboina, in addition to threatening the naval base, also was apparently aimed at cutting the allied supply route to Australia.

British in Libya Still Can't Find Indian Brigade

CAIRO, Jan. 31 (INS) — The situation around Bengazi, from which British troops have been withdrawn, remained unchanged today, according to a British Middle East communique.

The communique said:

"There has been no change in the situation around Bengazi.

"Further information reveals that after fiercely contesting for positions covering Bengazi for nearly 48 hours, against considerable odds, the Seventh Indian infantry brigade decided to break through on the night of Jan. 29.

"By that time the enemy had established themselves astride the road to Tongra, and also at Regima on the road leading to El Ablar.

"So far, two columns of the brigade have rejoined our main forces.

"In the Msus area our mobile columns continued throughout the day to engage the enemy, whose patrols again withdrew on making contact.

"Our fighters again carried out protective patrols over our lines, while others successfully attacked the enemy's lines of supply."

Earlier reports from the battle zone said the seventh Indian brigade was trying to fight its way out of a Nazi trap.

Fate of the brigade still remained a matter of apprehension, although it was noted that two columns had rejoined the main British body. But it was feared some of the Indians had been cut off and perhaps rounded up by the enemy.

RAF SILENCES GUNS IN NAZI PLANE OVER AEF IN IRELAND

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Jan. 31 (AP)—RAF fighters engaged a German reconnaissance plane yesterday over Ulster, the area to which the vanguard of United States Expeditionary Forces have been assigned, officials said today.

"Bullets were seen to enter the rear turret of the (reconnaissance) bomber and, almost at the same time, return fire ceased," said a communique issued by the RAF.

"The chase continued, but the enemy aircraft managed to evade our fighters in the thick cloud cover."

BERLIN (From German Broadcast) Jan. 31 (AP)—The high command said today:

"Railway targets in Northern Ireland were machine-gunned by German planes yesterday."

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (INS)—A protest over the "court-martial and firing" of an air raid warden who kissed other air raid wardens at a New Year's party was to be staged today.

Loyal supporters of Maj. Frank Knowles, the ousted warden, planned to picket Mayor LaGuardia's office in the City Hall.

Knowles, peppery ex-British army officer was "cashiered" by Police Capt. William O'Brien after charges by Ernest L. Rathkopf. Rathkopf said Maj. Knowles attended a New Year's party for air raid wardens and not only kissed the girl wardens "hello" but also "goodby."

"Sure I did," the major said, "I'd do it again."

SHE FINDS HER HERO SON IN DEATH

U. S. Officer Lost to Mother When 4

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (INS)—Myrtle Craig found out yesterday where her boy was.

Her brother, Pete, called her from Atlanta, and the radio in her kitchen repeated it an hour later.

Myrtle Craig's kid, Alec (the radio announced his full name: Alexander R. Nininger, Jr., second lieutenant, 57th Infantry, Philippine Scouts) fell dead on January 12 in the Abucay strip of Bataan, in the bravest fight of the Philippine war.

She read in the newspapers yesterday that the first Congressional Medal of Honor of the war was conferred yesterday on Alec for bravery, and the citation from Alec's commander, Gen. MacArthur, recited the bare story of his feat.

She said:

"I had not heard from Alec since he was 4 years old. He went to visit his father in 1922, and he never came back. He was born in St. Joseph's Hospital in Atlanta, and we lived on Peachtree st. I moved to New York.

"I have prayed for 20 years to find him and his sister, Pauline, and now I am rewarded at last to find that my son grew up to be a good boy, and I am consoled in my sorrow by the knowledge that he died gloriously for his country.

"A friend of mine saw his picture in last year's class of West Point and I wanted to go up there and ask the colonel if it would be all right for me to see him and tell him that I was his mother.

"But I decided to wait until he matured a little. I wish now that I had just seen him once before he went away.

"I have a good picture now of my boy, the one they published in the newspapers. He's a Craig, looks just like his Uncle Brett who was a reporter on the New York Sun.

"He had light curly hair, and he was chubby, and he would rather stay home with me than go out to the movies with his sister. He was a good boy.

"I wasn't in position to bring him up. I work hard to make both ends meet. But my prayers followed him through his life.

"Please do not give this any publicity. I lost my boy when he was four years old. I am 46 now. I must get back to work. Thanks for the photographs of him. He's a Craig."

F.D. SPURS WAR WORK, THANKFUL TO MILLIONS

By RUTH COWAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—President Roosevelt today turned back to his war-time tasks, "very grateful," hedeclared, for the nation-wide celebrations of his 60th birthday which produced uncounted sums for the fight against infantile paralysis.

Twenty-three Hollywood stars lent glamour to the birthday celebrations here. They had luncheon at the White House witnessed the President's "thank you" broadcast to the nation and mad epersonal appearances in half a dozen ballrooms and three theaters.

Four-year-old Gerry King, a New York boy who is recovering from infantile paralysis, was a guest at the White House lunch along with the stars.

BOY'S GIFT TO F. D.

Dressed in a new sailor suit, he shook hands with the President and left him a birthday present—a model airplane carrier.

Mrs. Roosevelt represented the Chief Executive at the cutting of his 650-pound birthday cake, the highlight of a dance attended by thousands in a huge arena. Cinema's Mickey Rooney got two slices.

The President was host to a group of intimate friends at a White House dinner, preceding his broadcast to the millions of Americans gathered for dinners, dances and parties in all parts of the nation.

In that speech, he declared the fact this nation could look after the health of its people while engaged in war demonstrated that the people definitely expect to win through a sound peace.

AID HEROES' FAMILIES

The President said he had been authorized by the trustees of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to announce that county chapters may use part of this year's funds to give special assistance to the children of soldiers, sailors and Marines who may fall victim to the disease.

"That will be good news," he said, "and a well-deserved boon to the fathesr who are serving their flag on land and on sea in many parts of the world, and to the mothers who have been left at home to do their brave part—to carry on."

Finns Seize British And Russian Property

HELSINKI, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Finnish government announced today it had seized all British and Russian property in Finland by a decree which prohibits business dealings by Finnish citizens with subjects of enemy countries.

REDS SWEEP ON, 46 TOWNS RECAPTURED

MOSCOW, Jan. 31 (AP) — Red army troops striking against newly ruptured German winter lines in the Donets basin after deep Soviet penetrations through the north and at the center claimed today recapture of 46 more villages and towns.

Broadcasts from Berlin warning western Europeans "what a Russian conquest would mean" shared the air waves with Moscow radio summaries of flanking and encirclement victories from Lake Ilmen to Ukranian granary gates.

The Soviet information bureau reported that the 46 towns newly recapured were in the pincer zones of the central front and in the south, where the previously announced drive of a Soviet spearhead to Lozovaya had placed Red army legions only 70 miles from the big bend of the lower Dnieper river.

"The Hitlerites lost over 800 soldiers and officers killed" in a 48-hour action on the Kalinin front; 2500 in the conquest of Sukhinichi, in the Kirov sector 150 miles southwest of Moscow, and suffered heavy casualties in other snow-covered battle zones, the bureau said.

Seven locomotives, 100 supply laden cars, two tanks, more than 100 trucks, an aerial bomb depot and other trophies were declared to have been added at Sukhinichi to the already enormous stores of captured German war equipment.

Ski-equipped planes of the Russian Air Force struck again and again in support of the ground troops.

Roxbury, whose number was drawn by Mrs. Saltonstall. The second prize, a fur coat, hat and muff, went to Mrs. Anne Clements, Monmouth st., Somerville, whose number was drawn by Mrs. Tobin.

Across the wide stage of the arena floor, under two life-size portraits of President Roosevelt, swept a four-hour variety show, featuring bands, drum corps, acrobatic teams, singers and dancers.

Individual hit-performers were world champion drum majorette Jean Ladd of Salem; eight-year-old Harry Murphy of Roslindale, whose antics and daring leap through a ring of fire won applause; and 15-year-old Timmy Reardon of Melrose, who stopped the show with his singing.

Climax of the entertainment was a military tableau, in which eight bands and representatives of veterans organizations marched into the arena, bearing the flags of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Spanish War Veterans and Disabled War Veterans.

While the lights were dimmed, the Stars and Stripes were raised and the Boston Firemen's Band played the Star Spangled Banner.

IN A JAP SNIPER'S KIT

Supply Keeps Him 2 Weeks

By CLARK LEE

WITH GEN. McARTHUR, BATAN PENINSULA, Luzon, Jan. 27 (Delayed) (AP)—Equipment taken from captured Japanese snipers has proved surprisingly complete, enabling each man to fight independently for two weeks to a month behind enemy lines if he can forage a minimum of food and water.

Equipment of this type apparently has made Japanese infiltration tactics possible in Malaya as well as here. A sniper sent on such a mission carries:

A gas mask.

A green combination mosquito net-camouflage hood covering his helmet, head and shoulders.

A green, corded net to camouflage the rest of his body.

A black wire eyescreen to protect him from sun glare.

A coil of rope for miscellaneous uses, including climbing trees and tying himself to trunks and branches to prevent the rifle's recoil from dislodging him.

SCANT SUPPLY OF FOOD

A five-inch-long sack of rice.

A small bag of hardtack.

A half-pound of hard candy.

A package of concentrated food.

A can of field rations.

A small can of coffee.

Vitamin pills.

A can of chlorine to purify water.

A messkit.

A canteen.

An antidote for mustard gas.

Quinine.

Stomach pills.

Gauze pads.

Roll and triangular bandages.

Spare socks.

Gloves.

A toothbrush.

A flashlight.

COLORED LIGHT SIGNAL

The flashlight has rotating varicolored lenses, one color apparently intended as a sign of recognition, a visual password.

A half-dozen spare lenses for the eyeholes of the gas mask include some usable in zero and sub-zero weather, possibly indicating the troops either served in Manchukuo or North China or that the equipment originally was intended for those northern fronts.

SINGAPORE NOW UNDER JAP SIEGE

in a break in water mains from the mainland.)

The statement by the general officer commanding in Malaya, Lieut.-Gen. A. E. Percival, declared "the battle of Malaya has come to an end and the battle of Singapore has started

"For nearly two months our troops have fought an enemy on the mainland who has had the advantage of great air superiority and considerable freedom of movement by sea."

"Our task has been to impose losses on the enemy and gain time to enable the forces of the Allies to be concentrated for this struggle in the Far East.

"Today we stand beleaguered in our island fortress.

SURE HELP TO COME

"Our task is to hold this fortress until help can come, as assuredly it will come; this we are determined to do.

"In carrying out this task we want the active help of every man and woman in the fortress; there is work for all to do.

"Any of the enemy who sets foot in our fortress must be dealt with immediately; the enemy within our gates must be ruthlessly weeded out.

"There must be no more loose talk and rumor-mongering; our duty is clear; with firm resolve and fixed determination we shall win through."

The Japanese thus had driven 350 miles down the rich Malayan peninsula from the Thai border to the doors of the great British Far East base in less than two months of fighting in jungles, swamps and mountains.

The British for days past have been preparing for siege, clearing a mile-wide strip along the northern shore facing the state of Johore and clamping a strict curfew on the residents of the island.

Japanese imperial headquarters announced today six enemy transports were sunk and five others were set on fire or heavily damaged Tuesday and Wednesday during a Japanese air attack on the port of Padang, on the west coast of Sumatra.

Can Singapore Hold Out As Long as Mafeking?

(By the Associated Press)

How long can Singapore hold?

None can answer this question—but there is a famous answer in modern history—the story of Mafeking.

A cluster of steaming corrugated iron huts in Bechuanaland, Mafeking was invested by the Boers at the start of South African war in October, 1899.

It had fewer than 1000 mixed defenders and two seven-pound guns, but it held out for seven months against very superior forces, and under a rain of cannonade.

The hero of this siege, the commander of the Mafeking garrison, was Robert Baden-Powell, who, of course, was to live and die as the idolized founder of the Boy Scouts.

Then a colonel, Baden-Powell, behaving with what the British call "unconventional gayety," led his men in repeated bayonet sorties, dug wells when the enemy cut off his water supply, rigged up ingenuous warning systems when the big shells came over, just as Gen. MacArthur's men sound the air-raid alert with banging pots and pans, and whipped up morale with a regular recreation system.

A flying column relieved Baden-Powell in May, 1900, after he had tied up 3000 or more Boers and upset, by his resistance, the plans for invasion of Rhodesia.

(There was no motorized warfare then, however, no planes, no dive bombers; undersea warfare had not been perfected; Big Berthas were unheard of.

Vitamins for Fitness

HOUSEWIFE TAKES LEAD ON "DIET FRONT"

America has a huge task ahead—a task in which you as homemaker can play a big part; By providing your family with needed vitamins and minerals you are helping to build a powerful nation.

Meals that are rich in vitamins aren't necessarily expensive. In fact the costliness of a menu is no guarantee that it's healthful.

Some of the commonest everyday foods are the most vital for health. Egg yolk, carrots, kale, cheese are all good providers of the Vitamin A you need to combat colds and other infections of the respiratory system.

The vitamins B1 and G—needed for pep, good digestion, steady nerves and high morale — are in milk, whole wheat cereals and lean beef. And in tomato juice, orange juice, cabbage you get the C for healthy tissues, teeth.

These same everyday foods also provide you with the calcium, iron and phosphorus your system needs! Using just such common foods, the U. S. Bureau of Home Economics has laid out a basic diet as a guide in planning menus. It specifies one cooked leafy vegetable daily, one serving of poultry, fish or meat.

Complete details of the basic diet are given in our 40-page booklet, "Vitamins for Health and Beauty." Includes vitamin-high menus; table listing vitamin content of everyday foods; requirements of adults, children; information on minerals. How to save vitamins in cooking.

Romance

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THE FOLLOWING LETTER was received from a girl of 22. They met out West while both were seeking to regain health.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"While in a western state for my health last year, I met a man patient who was out there for the same reason. At first he didn't attract me at all, and I may have been rather distant at times. Yet he seemed to like me very much. He is 36 years old.

"As we were thrown together constantly, I learned to care very much for him and didn't hesitate to let him know my sentiments. And then he grew indifferent and seemed to lose much of his former fervid affection.

"He isn't the kind to 'lead a woman on' but is really a man of character.

"He appeared reluctant to say good-by, and I didn't hear from him for a month and then he just called up. When I reproached him for neglecting me, he charged me with being silly and said he would drop me entirely if I didn't take myself in hand. But the next time we met he kissed me as though no rift had occurred between us.

"He seems to be serious, doesn't often talk about himself. I'm fourteen years younger than he is, have met many boys and men who are better looknig and congenial. Yet, I cannot get this man out of my mind.

"My problem is: Does he really care for me and is he waiting until I recover my health? Or is there something else worrying him?

"DISCOURAGED."

It seems to me this man, being so much older than you are, is more of a realist, and distrusts love affairs which have their beginnings in health resorts between patients.

Time is the only test for such a case. You've always heard, no doubt, that propinquity is the most favorable aid to falling in love.

RAY KINNEY AND HIS HAWAIIAN ORCHESTRA TOP GALA RKO BOSTON SHOW

Dances Feature Smart Revue

By PEGGY DOYLE

On the stage this week at the RKO-Boston all is love and moonlight . . . and paradise. Golden-skinned aloha maids flirt their grass-skirts as they dance to the provocative, mesmerizing rhythms of Ray Kinney's famed Hawaiian-attuned orchestra.

It's quite another story, however, on the screen, where the devil dominates through most of the unreeling of the curious, dour, beautifully acted "All That Money Can Buy." This is William Dieterle's skillfully directed screen version of the Stephen Vincent Benet story, "The Devil and Daniel Webster."

So there you have it . . . paradise and damnation, and all for the price of a single admission.

BEAUTIFUL BALLET

Kinney, his own orchestra's best vocalist, and his internationally famed Hawaiian orchestra and Paul Haakon and Patricia Bowman, and their exquisite ballet dancing, are the stage show's standouts. Kinney's singing of "Hawaiian Paradise" puts it on your song-list of favorites, if it wasn't on it already. An Hawaiian war-song he does is a rouser.

Haakon, one of the stage's finest dancers, and the lovely Bowman, are perfection. Effortless, graceful, they make one forget technique and almost persuade that their superb dancing is as easy as pie.

Meymo Holt, a pretty Hawaiian unhappily hampered by a cumbersome metallic flower lei, did a dance interpretation of "Lovely Hula Hands" and "Hawaiian Hospitality" to Kinney's singing. Lehua Paulson revealed a delightful comedy sense in the singing of "Cock-eyed Mayor" and "Hilo Hattie."

IT'S A WISE PUP

Ed Ford's dog, Whitey, who made like he was inebriated and danced like all get out, is the most irresistible trained dog we've seen in years.

The strange Benet tale, used as the basis of an operatic production a couple of years ago and now for the strange and brilliant screen production, "All That Money Can Buy," stems from the old Faustus legend.

Dieterle has been unexpectedly successful in transferring to the celluloid this unpretty story that blends fantasy with reality. Walter Huston, as the smirking, diabolical Mr. Scratch, is outstanding. An excellent portrayal, too, is James Craig, as the sorely tried young farmer who sells his soul to the devil in return for seven years of great wealth and Simone Simon.

LEO CHALZEL plays an unctious landlord and Betty Furness, a temporarily jobless tenant, in "My Sister Eileen," which continues to amuse capacity audiences at the Wilbur.

KATHIE and the prince . . . Barbara Scully and Robert Davis to you . . . return in "The Student Prince," which is pausing at the Shubert Monday evening for a positively farewell two-week engagement.

Musical Lead Marks Her Debut

Jay Presson, who plays the Princess Margaret in "The Student Prince" at the Shubert Theater, is one of the most refreshing personalities that ever walked into a casting office, something she never has done.

Miss Presson, tall, slender, with a gamine hair-do and a boyish build reminiscent of Katharine Hepburn, is 18 years old. She is playing her first theatrical engagement, discounting the past summer in musical stock in Dallas, Tex.

Last summer the Messrs. Shubert presented a season of musical stock in that town. Miss Presson was one of hundreds who applied for auditions. She made her professional debut as Mrs Marshall in "Irene." Her previous stage experience had been with the Dallas Little Theater.

So impressed were the producers with her ability that Miss Presson was summoned to New York for rehearsals of "The Student Prince." In the musical, as everyone knows, the prince who loves the little waitress, nevertheless marries the princess. Robert Davis, who plays the prince, and Miss Presson the princess decided to make the fairy tale come true, so on Christmas Eve in Chicago Miss Presson became Mrs. Davis.

Tops Beacon Bill

The Beacon's double-feature bill for tomorrow through Wednesday will be "I Wake Up Screaming," which has Victor Mature and Betty Grable, as well as suspense galore, and "Mob Town."

Beauty hints by Arline Gould, every day in the Boston American.

COSMETICS SALE OFFERS RARE CHANCE TO STOCK UP

By ARLINE GOULD

THEY'RE NOT so terribly hard . . . the lessons in economy and providence that you're learning right now, are they? If you haven't had a garden for years . . . no doubt next spring you'll be spading and planting . . . and then you'll look into home canning, and delightedly find out how methods have improved! You'll use up the fruit of the little plum tree for preserves . . . and the peaches and grapes in your back yard won't go to waste, either.

But as all these things develop slowly, timed by the seasons . . . you find yourself at the moment in the cycle of "stocking up" instead of planting or cooking with your own hands. And if you aren't taking advantage of the wonderful cosmetic sales . . . and they seem all the more wonderful when we contemplate the possibility of their being done away with soon . . . then you're being short-sighted in a way that belies your femininity!

February opens up with a whole-month sale that's a gargantuan buy . . . and the regular fans who've always watched and waited for it will no doubt be swelled by the eager company of the girls who know a good thing when they see it.

You'll be able to buy a great jar of cold cream, the half-pound size which is regularly $1, for 69 cents. You'll take up the identical opportunity on a jar of equally famous cleansing cream. And this year, for the first time, a "bulk" price on a set of three jars has been set at $2 . . . which brings a saving of $1 on the normal outlay for a similar quantity of cream. This has been done in recognition of the fact that beauty-conscious women are in the mood for stocking-up.

One of the nicest features of both these creams is their marvelously soothing, smooth consistency and texture. Neither is highly perfumed, and the ingredients are guaranteed to be of the best and purest.

To learn about this February sale of cream, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

FOOD

By Martha Lee

WARS ARE ALWAYS responsible for a lot of new recipes and cook books, both to help in the use of limited foodstuffs, and as aids to proper nutrition. If you remember, there was the same excitement over the number of draftees improperly fed in 1917 as there is today, but then the stress was in the proper amount of calories; today it is vitamins.

Back in the days of World War I, we had to use substitutes for wheat, for meat, for fat, for sugar; and while there weren't nearly as many fresh eggs available as there are today, it is interesting to note homemakers were urged to use less of them in cakes and desserts, but to increase the amount served in main dishes. Beef was needed for the Army and Allies, but eggs could be used at home. Facts and fancies in nutrition have changed mightily since then, but through it all, fresh eggs have remained a standby.

More ways of serving eggs are still needed and variety may be furnished by using recipes from some of our Allies, as well as new American ideas.

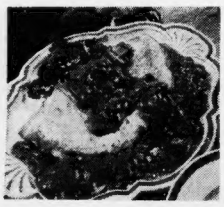
BUCKINGHAM EGGS
(English)

6 slices white bread
2 tbsp. butter
1½ tsp. anchovy paste (optional)
6 eggs
½ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
1½ tbsp. butter
3 tbsp. grated cheese

Remove crusts from bread and toast it. Butter and spread with anchovy paste, if desired. Beat eggs, and seasonings, and scramble them in butter. Be sure to leave them underdone. Place on toast, forming a mound, and sprinkle with cheese. Place in a hot oven (450 deg. F.) until cheese melts, about 5 minutes. Serve at once for a main luncheon dish.

EGGS WITH BLACK BEANS
(Mexican)

2 cups (1 lb.) black beans
5 cups water
1½ tbsp. oil or butter
1 clove garlic, minced
1 large onion, chopped
2 tsp. salt
2-3 cup tomato
6 eggs
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper



OMELET with Savory Sauce, a new way to serve an old standby.

½ cup grated cheese
1 tbsp. butter

Soak beans in cold water to cover for 6 or 7 hours. Drain and put in a kettle with 5 cups water and allow to cook for 2½ hours or more, until they are tender enough to mash, skins and all. Heat oil in a frying pan and fry garlic and onion; when light brown add tomato and salt and cook, covered, for 6 or 7 minutes. Add the mashed beans, stir and mash again through a strainer. Butter a baking dish. Add cheese to bean mixture, and spread over bottom. Break eggs individually on top, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dot with butter and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) until eggs are set. Serve at once.

OMELET WITH SAVORY SAUCE

SAUCE:
2 tbsp. onions, chopped
1 tbsp. green pepper, chopped
2 tbsp. butter
1 can condensed tomato soup
½ cup mushrooms, cooked

Saute the chopped onion and green pepper in the butter until soft, but not brown. Then add the condensed tomato soup and the ½ cup cooked mushrooms.

OMELET:
6 eggs
½ tsp. salt
Pinch of pepper
3 tbsp. water
2 tbsp. butter

Beat the eggs until well mixed; then add seasonings and water and mix again. Melt the butter in a pan and place over a moderate flame. As the omelet cooks, lift the edges and tip the pan so that the uncooked egg flows under the cooked portion of the omelet. When bottom is browned, put three tablespoons of above sauce in the omelet and fold over or roll. Serve omelet on a platter or plate and put more sauce over or around it. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT HAVING TO WEAR CIVILIAN CLOTHES

By BETTINA BEDWELL

A lot of you are doing your part to help our nation in ways that do not rate a uniform and I have been hearing quite some complaints from women who feel they're at a disadvantage because they wear civilian clothes.

Seems to me that many of you look more charming to the eyes of an observer than you could in any regulation kind of clothes. If you happen to be on the heavy side, your spring suit, for instance, is not bound to any regulations as to length and cut, and you can have it made to give you the maximum of figure flattery.

You can wear any hat that gives your complexion and your face a beauty lift. You can go right on looking your best in your own very personal way, and you should take full advantage of this fact.

See to it that you do look your best, and you've nothing in the world to worry about. Your audience will pay you tribute, and, more than that, you will be doing your country a real service by helping morale everywhere you appear.

How WPA Shifts Over to Defense

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT
National Woman Director of Civilian Defense

WASHINGTON, Friday—Yesterday afternoon we had a reception for the students from the Republic of Colombia, some 30 strong, who have been taking special courses for the past two months at the University of Pennsylvania. They studied medicine, law, architecture, music and engineering. Though they are slightly handicapped by the language they told me that they felt they profited by their experience here.

I invited some of the young people from the Office of Civilian Defense, and also from the Washington bureau of the International Student Service, to help me to entertain them. They all seemed to get on very well together.

After they had gone, Mrs. Florence Kerr came with 17 of her regional WPA supervisors, who sat down with me for half an hour and told me a little about the efforts they are making to re-orient their program so that it serves purposes of defense. They are very proud of some of their projects, where great ingenuity has been exercised in making a change.

For instance, in one place, the workers have been busy making toys. They transformed themselves into a child care center and met a great need in the community, where there was a tremendous influx of industrial workers.

IN THE EVENING, we gave a dinner in the interests of the International Student Service. Dr. William A. Neilson presided and Dr. George Shuster, president of Hunter College, Mr. Archibald MacLeish and Mr. Michael Straight Spoke. All presented the need for the work and what was being done, in a most convincing manner.

The question period brought from Mr. Joseph Lash several very good examples of actual work, which illustrated points made by the speakers. As they went out, the guests left me feeling they had spent an evening which was interesting and well worth while.

After a morning in the Office of Civilian Defense, I returned to the White House for the lunch we give to the movie stars, who come here for the President's birthday. It is always a very pleasant party. The group presented the President with a charming little remembrance, a small Scottie, looking very jaunty, made of Copenhagen ware.

I DO NOT KNOW whether my husband feels any older as he celebrates his 60th birthday—he certainly does not look any older. He seems to be able to stand up under a load of work and anxiety which many a younger man would find difficult to bear.

Tonight, after the usual birthday dinner and attendance at two birthday balls, Miss Thompson and I take the train for Raleigh, North Carolina.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

FLASH! . . . Here's the first exclusive news of a romance which will be the chief topic of conversation over North Shore tea cups and cocktail glasses for some time to come . . .

It's news of the marriage today of Mrs. Betty Barrell Woods of Box Stall, Hamilton, to Monty Richie, wealthy Texas rancher . . . The wedding is taking place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivor G. Balding of Old Westbury, L. I. in the presence of a small family gathering . . . Mrs. Balding is the former Frances Goodwin of Boston, step-sister of the bride . . .

News of the marriage comes as a surprise to Boston and North Shore society, since no announcement has been made of the couple's engagement . . . Mrs. Woods, who is famous as one of the few women to own her own stable of thoroughbred horses before her 21st birthday, is a darling of North Shore society . . . She is the daughter of Mrs. Augustus Goodwin of Hamilton and Aiken, S. C., and of the late Dr. Charles Barrell . . .

In 1931 Betty Barrell was married at Aiken to Joseph Woods of Boston . . . Friends who attended that ceremony often recall the picturesque festivities which climaxed with the bride and groom driving away from the church in an ancient tallyho driven by four white thoroughbreds from the bride's stables . . . Betty and Joe were divorced last fall at which time she obtained custody of their two children . . .

Betty's brother, Sewall Barrell, lost his life last autumn in a crash in England while serving in the present war . . . Mrs. Goodwin, mother of the bride, has come up from Aiken for today's ceremony and Mrs. Crocker Snow of Hamilton, the former Janice Vaughan, is also attending . . .

The couple will honeymoon on the Richie ranch in Texas.

OF ALL THE TELEGRAMS of best wishes arriving for Dorothy Storer and William B. Long, Jr., at their wedding reception this afternoon the most cherished is the wire from Bill's brother-in-law and sister, Lt. and Mrs. Irving Chase who are now in New Orleans . . . Polly and her husband who heads a military school in the Mardi Gras City, were unable to take the time for the long journey home to attend Bill and Dorothy's wedding . . .

Otherwise the Storer and Long families are well represented in the family pews at Trinity Church where Dr. Oliver Hart is performing the four o'clock ceremony . . . Dorothy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat Paine Storer of Cambridge, is being given in marriage by her father and wearing a gown of bridal satin with a tulle veil which has a wide border of the exquisite family lace which fashioned her mother's wedding veil . . .

Twelve-year-old Elizabeth Storer, sister of the bride, is maid of honor and the bridesmaids are Edith Hall, a cousin; Deborah Law who is engaged to the bridegroom's brother, Edward B. Long; Janet Reggio, and Phyllis Long, sister of the bridegroom.

MRS. BETTY BARRELL WOODS of Hamilton whose marriage today to Monty Richie of Texas is a pleasant surprise to North Shore and Boston socialites. The wedding takes place at Old Westbury, L. I., home of the bride's step-sister, Mrs. Ivor G. Balding.

YOU CAN'T INSURE HAPPINESS

By Elsie Robinson

SHE'S had a wretched life. A naggy home—an unhappy marriage that ended in divorce—and now love has come her way, again, at 33, and she is afraid to take it.

"How can you insure happiness?" she writes. "What can you fall back on if marriage turns out wrong? Keep a stiff upper lip and going on is okay in fairy tales—but when a girl gives up a good job, banks everything on her husband and then he fails her—well—"

How can you "insure happiness?"

You can't.

And why should you expect to?

YOU WEREN'T GIVEN LIFE in order to find happiness. Happiness isn't the purpose of life . . . isn't even necessary to a great life. The purpose of life is Growth. You were meant to grow—to develop—that is the natural plan of your life, for all life. And you certainly can grow and yet remain what you call "happy."

For happiness means contentment—
And growth implies discount—
Happiness means comfort—
Growth implies discomfort—
Happiness means ecstasy—
Growth implies risk and danger—
Growth implies hardship, boredom, monotony—

Successful lives aren't happy lives. Successful lives are growing lives—lives that are continually reaching out, battling with hardships.

"Then why do people desire happiness so passionately if they weren't meant to be happy?"

Why do they want to be happy? For exactly the same reason tha: they want to quit their jobs, sleep until noon and stuff themselves with chocolate cake.

Because they're lazy, greedy and cowardly.

OF COURSE we want happiness—we want anything that is easy and pleasant. But our "wants" are not the measure of what our lives should be. Your youngster wants lollypops instead of regular food. You can't let him have them. You want happiness instead of regular life. Don't let yourself have it.

The dream of happiness isn't a man's size dream—it's a lazy, stupid animal's dream. It's a greedy, timid child's dream.

And it's only a dream. Happiness really never happens—save in brief spurts.

Thank God it doesn't!

Paralysis would be a picnic compared to it.

And indeed that which we call happiness is usually a paralysis of thought and spirit.

"But what can we fall back on if happiness fails?"

Don't fall back on anything. Keep on going. Keep on going with life. Take life as it comes.

Engagement

Jean Saltonstall to Wed

AN ENGAGEMENT of widespread interest among Boston's post debs and Harvardians is the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. John L. Saltonstall of Topsfield of the betrothal of Mr. Saltonstall's daughter, Jean, to Benjamin Crowninshield Bradlee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Bradlee, Jr., of Boston.

The bride-to-be, a popular deb of two seasons ago, is the daughter of Mrs. Henry Billings of New York. She attended St. Timothy's School in Catonsville, Md., and last winter attended the Wheelock School in Boston. She is now an assistant teacher at the Dalton School in New York.

Mr. Bradlee, a graduate of St. Mark's, is at Harvard. Having enrolled in the Naval Reserve, he anticipates getting a degree and being commissioned an ensign later this year. He belongs to A. D. and Hasty Pudding Clubs. No date has been set for the wedding.

INDIA . . . THREATENED BY NIPPON MIGHT

Fate of Country Rests in Hands of United Nations' Forces Defending Singapore

BRITISH INDIA is just now like a turtle on its back.

It has been apprehensive of an invasion from the northwest border region for years. Armaments and fortifications have been concentrated there. Now British generals face the unhappy prospect of invasion, not from the guarded northwest, but against the fat, soft southeastern sector.

From the Japanese advance bases on the Burma-Thai-Malay line, the southeast coast is within range of medium bombers. The rest of India could easily be reached by long-range bombardment airplanes.

The east shore also is the least defensible area in the whole subcontinent. Flat lands stretch down to the ocean from the eastern ghats, are almost ideal for a determined landing force to establish a foothold and lay out "quickie" air bases.

• • •

THAT India should be threatened by a power with headquarters 4000 miles away is a startling commentary on modern warfare. It seems such a short while ago that men of mark were arguing seriously in the United States that oceans 3000 miles wide were ample protection.

But that's the prospect India faces. Singapore, threatened by the Jap drive down the Malay peninsula, alone guards against Nipponese incursions into the Indian ocean. Singapore in Japanese hands would be the signal for Japanese submarine and airplane raiders to harry the commerce of the whole Indian ocean.

• • •

THE threat to United Nations communications is deadly serious. Two of the most vital routes of supply to the two biggest members—China and Russia—intersect in the waters of the Indian ocean.

One is the only all-weather route to Russia, the artery around Africa and to the head of the Gulf of Persia where goods are trans-shipped across Iran. The other is to Rangoon, Burma, where the Burma Road haul to Chungking begins. It's China's only munitions route.

• • •

INTERNALLY, India seems in better shape than at any time for several years past. The very real threat of Japanese invasion has unified the Indian people, and Nehru, the new leader of the Indian Nationalist movement, has given qualified support to the war effort. It's likely that Britain will make further concessions to the Indian independence movement in return for all-out co-operation.

India supplies some soldiers, but no forces in proportion to its 325,000,000 population. The fighting forces come largely from the northern states and Nepal. The Gurkas, Sikhs and northern Mohammedans are India's fighting men. The Hindus of the south never have been warlike and have not been used to any extent in India's military organization.

• • •

INDIA'S part in past wars, in addition to the fine fighting men from the north, has been to supply raw materials and wealth to the empire effort. It was considered as a safe and remote and virtually inexhaustible storehouse of goods and provender. Now the enemy is at the virtual gates of the storehouse.

Much depends on the defense of Singapore. So long as that bastion holds, it will be difficult for Japanese undersea raiders or invasion convoys to make serious inroads in the Indian ocean area.

Workmen Begin Razing El Structure—A job long delayed—that of razing the Atlantic ave. El structure—begins . . . and workmen (here) walk the ties to gather spikes and other materials which can be used in other parts of the El system. One of the first steps in the razing was the removal of steps from the Dewey sq. station. Actual demolition of the structure will be done by contractors.

$100,000 HINGES ON 'SOBER MAN'

Judge Arthur E. Beane of Middlesex probate court had a tough legal nut to crack today—he must decide what constitutes a "sober and industrious man" as the result of a New Hampshire man's effort to obtain $100,000 which he once signed away to an older brother.

The money is part of the estate of the late Abbie S. Beede, wife of a Hudson shoe manufacturer, whose property went to her two sons, Luman Jefts Beede of Warren, N. H., formerly of Belmont, and Everett Jefts Beede, Belmont town accountant.

$100,000 STAKE

Luman's share had a string attached, however, as the mother's will provided the $100,000 should be left as a trust fund from which he would receive the income until he reached 40. Then, if he could prove himself "sober and industrious" to the satisfaction of the court, he should receive the principal in full.

In 1932, five days before he reached his 40th birthday, it was testified, Luman signed a purported agreement with his older brother consenting to leave the money in trust and to continue receiving the income.

ASKS FULL FORTUNE

Now, however, Luman Beede contends he had no right to enter such an agreement and he seeks to prove his right to the entire fortune. Neighbors from the New Hampshire town where he lives testified he is "always careful with his money and knows where every cent goes."

Others admitted, however, that he did not make full use of his farm, hired outsiders to cut the hay and spent only about six months of the year in New Hampshire Beede at present is critically ill in Florida, his attorney, Herbert L. Avery, stated.

Boston Waits Ruling On El Rent Deficit

Boston today awaited decision on the city's assessment in the deficit incurred by the Elevated in its rental of the Boylston st. subway after city officials had petitioned the state department of public utilities for such information.

Under the law, the public utilities department sets the sum to be paid, with the state's share divided among the cities and towns outside of Boston which are served by the Elevated.

Gala Launching At Fore River

Naval officials and the charming granddaughter of the late Rear Admiral John K. Barton, Miss Barbara Dean Barton, gathered at the Fore River shipyard in Quincy today for the launching of a powerful new destroyer named for the famous officer.

Miss Barton was chosen to christen the ship before its slide down the ways, in the first launching of 1942 at the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s great plant.

The ship was ready for launching in less than eight and one-half months, or about half the normal peace-time period between keel-laying and launching.

GLAMOUR OUT FOR NURSES IN IRELAND AEF

By RICE YAHNER

WITH THE U. S. ARMY IN NORTHERN IRELAND, Jan. 31 (Wide World)—Two-score young American women nurses are finding it's a tough job to be glamorous with the U. S. Army in Northern Ireland.

They didn't come over in the role of glamour girls, of course, but they've found that snug, warm woolies are more important in this climate than silk stockings or cosmetics.

"One thing I'll get out of this," said Stella Dabrowski of East Chicago, "I'll learn to appreciate what I have when I have it."

Never before have the girls worn the same suit or dress so long or so often—for they packed hurriedly and were told to travel lightly. Their uniforms haven't arrived and they can't replenish their wardrobes as the civilians do because they have no coupons.

ALLIANCE WITH BRITISH

But they aren't complaining. And already they've formed sort of an alliance with their British sisters, giving them gifts of soap, matches and American-made cigarets.

Walking briskly along the blacked-out streets of the town near the hospital, the girls have learned to sing just as the Irish lads and lassies.

They're acquiring a taste for tea, but miss the snacks of cheeses, jam and sandwiches they found in midnight raids on refrigerators back at the United States bases. There are no snacks and no kitchen refrigerators in their barracks here.

HOT WATER BOTTLES

Every American girl found a hot water bottle warming the bedclothes as they pulled down the blankets on the first night after their arrival—another touch of British hospitality.

In the hospital social rooms, the Americans swap stories with the British before open grate fires, stories of New York and Chicago in return for tales of London and Dublin.

Springfield Armory Fire Held Accident

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 31—Gen. Gilbert H. Stewart, commanding officer at the Springfield Armory, said today that after a probe by the F. B. I. and military intelligence officers, it was agreed that the $100,000 fire in the new field service building was accidental.

In jumping from staging, a carpenter upset a salamander used to dry cement, thus starting the blaze. Three alarms were sounded for the fire, which swept the new building, still under construction.

BOY'S HEART SEWED AFTER STAB WOUND

William C. Stanley, 15, of N st., South Boston, today owed his life to the skill of Dr. John W. Streider after a friendly tussle in which he accidentally was stabbed in the heart.

The noted heart and chest surgeon took four stitches in the youngster's heart during a delicate three-hour operation. And today at City Hospital doctors said that while still in serious condition the boy was going to live.

Young Stanley was fooling with a group of friends in front of the Perkins American Legion Post building on East Fourth st., South Boston, when he was either pushed or fell against the open jackknife of a pal.

In dying condition when he reached the hospital, the boy was removed to the shock room where he was given emergency treatment to restore his fast-waning blood pressure. Then, Dr. Streieder began the delicate task with other doctors and nurses standing by to have the boy's life

After an investigation, police announced that the stabbing was accidental and that the two boys long had been friends.

Deanna Durbin, Studio in Truce

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31—The pipe of peace has been smoked by Universal and Deanna Durbin. I've expected this kiss-and-make-up act between the little rebel song bird and her studio.

Deanna Durbin

Only cream puffs were thrown in this battle. The studio bosses admitted they wished they had hit back and Deanna was polite as punch.

Just who won was not divulged in the official statement by Nate Blumberg, Universal's president, but it is likely that a compromise was met by Deanna who had demanded complete supervision on stories, casts and directors.

GLAMOUR OUT FOR NURSES IN IRELAND AEF

By RICE YAHNER

WITH THE U. S. ARMY IN NORTHERN IRELAND, Jan. 31 (Wide World)—Two-score young American women nurses are finding it's a tough job to be glamorous with the U. S. Army in Northern Ireland.

They didn't come over in the role of glamour girls, of course, but they've found that snug, warm woolies are more important in this climate than silk stockings or cosmetics.

"One thing I'll get out of this," said Stella Dabrowski of East Chicago, "I'll learn to appreciate what I have when I have it."

Never before have the girls worn the same suit or dress so long or so often—for they packed hurriedly and were told to travel lightly. Their uniforms haven't arrived and they can't replenish their wardrobes as the civilians do because they have no coupons.

ALLIANCE WITH BRITISH

But they aren't complaining. And already they've formed sort of an alliance with their British sisters, giving them gifts of soap, matches and American-made cigarets.

Walking briskly along the blacked-out streets of the town near the hospital, the girls have learned to sing just as the Irish lads and lassies.

They're acquiring a taste for tea, but miss the snacks of cheeses, jam and sandwiches they found in midnight raids on refrigerators back at the United States bases. There are no snacks and no kitchen refrigerators in their barracks here.

HOT WATER BOTTLES

Every American girl found a hot water bottle warming the bedclothes as they pulled down the blankets on the first night after their arrival—another touch of British hospitality.

In the hospital social rooms, the Americans swap stories with the British before open grate fires, stories of New York and Chicago in return for tales of London and Dublin.

Springfield Armory Fire Held Accident

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 31—Gen. Gilbert H. Stewart, commanding officer at the Springfield Armory, said today that after a probe by the F. B. I. and military intelligence officers, it was agreed that the $100,000 fire in the new field service building was accidental.

In jumping from staging, a carpenter upset a salamander used to dry cement, thus starting the blaze. Three alarms were sounded for the fire, which swept the new building, still under construction.

BOY'S HEART SEWED AFTER STAB WOUND

William C. Stanley, 15, of N st., South Boston, today owed his life to the skill of Dr. John W. Streider after a friendly tussle in which he accidentally was stabbed in the heart.

The noted heart and chest surgeon took four stitches in the youngster's heart during a delicate three-hour operation. And today at City Hospital doctors said that while still in serious condition the boy was going to live.

Young Stanley was fooling with a group of friends in front of the Perkins American Legion Post building on East Fourth st., South Boston, when he was either pushed or fell against the open jackknife of a pal.

In dying condition when he reached the hospital, the boy was removed to the shock room where he was given emergency treatment to restore his fast-waning blood pressure. Then Dr. Streieder began his delicate task with other doctors and nurses standing by to save the boy's life.

After an investigation, police announced that the stabbing was accidental and that the two boys long had been friends.

Deanna Durbin, Studio in Truce

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31—The pipe of peace has been smoked by Universal and Deanna Durbin. I've expected this kissand-make-up act between the little rebel song bird and her studio.

Deanna Durbin

Only cream puffs were thrown in this battle. The studio bosses admitted they wished they had her back—and Deanna was polite as punch.

Just who won was not divulged in the official statement by Nate Blumberg, Universal's president, but it is likely that a compromise was met by Deanna who had demanded complete supervision on stories, casts and directors.

YOU MAY GET CAR BOUGHT BEFORE JAN. 1

Price Administrator Leon Henderson announced today that persons showing satisfactory proof of having purchased new automobiles prior to Jan. 1 would be able to obtain them through order of their local rationing boards.

The price administrator said that it was felt cars purchased prior to the "freeze" order of Jan. 1 should now be delivered and accordingly a two-week period, Feb. 12-26, has been set aside by local boards for the handling of the problems involved.

In order to obtain the new car, purchaser must show a certificate of title or registration issued before Jan. 1, 1942, a bill or sale or written contract.

General rationing of new passenger cars to eligible users will begin about Feb. 26, Henderson said. Only buyers exempt from the necessity of obtaining purchase certificates will be the Army and Navy and other federal agencies directly related to the fighting services.

P. S.—Theres' nothing new on the tire situation, officials say.

Never before has it been so necessary that your home be adequately equipped with radios. Today, every family eager to give full co-operation with Civilian Defense will see that their radios are in good condition. Never before was it so important to have an extra radio in your home. It is a splendid "ounce of prevention"—protecting you from unexpected failure of your present set. So, put an extra radio in your bedroom, kitchen, upper floor or basement, and you will always be within easy hearing distance of emergency announcements.

PRICE CONTROL QUIZ HAS ALL THE ANSWERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Some questions and answers on the price control bill signed by President Roosevelt yesterday:

Q—When is the bill effective?

A—It was effective immediately, but no price regulations can be issued until Mr. Roosevelt has appointed an administrator—he announced his choice of Leon Henderson—and until after Senate confirmation of the appointment and Henderson's oath-taking.

Q—What immediate results can be expected?

A—The Office of Price Administration says "nothing sweeping or radical" will be done in extending price roofs over commodities not already covered. Control will continue to be piecemeal; that is, one commodity will be handled after another, as rapidly as they develop inflationary tendencies.

Q—Does the bill put ceilings on retail prices?

A—That power is given the administrator, but OPA officials say it will not be exercised frequently for the time being, unless such emergencies arise as the recent rush on flashlights. OPA prefers to work at the factory or wholesale level, counting on these to stabilize retail prices. Most ceilings are on raw materials.

Q—What about later on?

A—There inevitably will be more retail price ceilings OPA believes, as stocks of durable consumers goods—radios, washing machines, vacuum cleaners and the like—dwindle. Storekeepers having little prospect of replenishing supplies are under temptation to jack prices up.

Q—Are the present price ceiling orders carried over automatically into law?

A—No. Each of the 80 price schedules will be re-issued as a "price regulation." They will then be backed by legal status instead of what OPA calls its present "jawbone authority."

Q—Are retail food price ceilings expected?

A—OPA says none is in preparation at this time.

Q—Will all businesses operating under price ceilings have to get licenses to do business?

A—OPA officials agree that licensing will come ultimately, as authorized under the act, but have not yet decided on the form of licensing machinery.

Q—Can a seller be put out of business if he violates the price maximum?

A—His license may be suspended or revoked through court procedure, but only upon a second offense after a warning.

Q—What other penalties are provided for violations?

A—Up to $5000 fine and two years imprisonment.

Q—Is any general price level for all commodities stipulated?

A—Congress said the administrator should give "due consideration" to the level of Oct. 1-15, 1941, as a period on which to base prices, or the nearest two-week period on which prices were representative.

Q—Will the October prices be an invariable guide?

A—No. They are not typical in a large number of cases.

Q—Will rent control begin immediately?

A—It cannot, because the law provides that the administrator must first make formal recommendations as to rent levels in boom areas and give local and state officials 60 days to carry them out.

Q—Is the control effective the country over?

A—No. Only in defense rental areas to be designated by the administrator.

OUR DAILY CITATION: To the heroic deed performed by 2nd Lieut. Alexander Ramsey Nininger, Jr., of Florida, which brought him posthumously the first Congressional Medal of Honor conferred in this war. The nation's highest decoration was awarded for gallantry and valor in a hand-to-hand battle in the Philippines. His rare courage long will be remembered by his comrades in arms.

MR. CHURCHILL'S most recent statement to Parliament on the progress of the war was optimistic regarding the outcome, and pessimistic regarding present and immediately impending events.

At the moment, the active phases of the war are in three parts.

The first is on the mid-European front, which the Russians seem to have perfectly well in hand.

The second is in North Africa, which has been going fairly favorably for the British.

The third is in the Pacific, which has been dangerously unfavorable to the Allied cause and therefore is the source of Mr. Churchill's pessimism.

It was the third and currently unfavorable phase of the war—the Pacific phase—which dominated Mr. Churchill's report, and in fact COMPELLED the report.

The Prime Minister developed a notable point in this regard.

"THERE IS NO QUESTION OF REGARDING THE PACIFIC WAR AS A SECONDARY OPERATION," HE SAID.

This is momentous.

It represents a distinct departure from previous attitudes.

Great Britain MUST have expected to conduct a SECONDARY operation in the Pacific, BECAUSE NEITHER MAJOR NOR ADEQUATE FORCES WERE CONCENTRATED IN THE PACIFIC.

The British Army is almost entirely mobilized—really IMMOBILIZED—IN THE BRITISH ISLES.

The British Air Force is principally attentive to the same area.

The British Navy is largely concerned with the same problem.

Thus, a purely defensive position was successfully and perhaps justifiably established—conditioned, however, on the false premise that a secondary operation in the Pacific would be SUFFICIENT.

American participation in the war was apparently anticipated and undertaken by our high American authorities on the basis of the same premise.

America began the war with its Navy dispersed in two oceans, and with its military aviation being systematically diffused into a variety of war zones remote from the Pacific—including the British Isles, Libya and Russia.

All this conformed to a carefully calculated strategy—a British strategy.

Secretary Knox disclosed the strategical pattern by cautioning the American people not to expect major action in the Pacific until CONTINUING MATTERS ELSEWHERE HAD BEEN LIQUIDATED—a ridiculous proposition.

What upset this myopic strategy was THE SUBSEQUENT AND IMMEDIATE FAILURE OF A SECONDARY OPERATION TO HOLD AND CONTAIN THE ENSUING MAJOR OPERATION LAUNCHED BY THE JAPANESE.

Of course, if the overwhelming forces of Japan had been turned back, the insufficient forces disposed for that purpose would have been sufficient—quad erat demonstrandum—not to mention pons asinorum.

But the Japanese were NOT turned back, and Hongkong fell, the Philippines and Malaya were largely overrun, the Dutch Indies were put under heavy attack and even Australia was menaced.

So the Pacific war quickly became a major operation, and Mr. Churchill is COMPELLED futilely and finally to recognize it as such, and attempt belatedly to meet it as such.

He frankly granted recognition of the situation in his report to Parliament. He amply PROMISED to remedy it—and let us hope he will—and can.

The report is therefore in a way encouraging, and warrants to a degree the over-all optimism of the Prime Minister.

However, fulfillment of his optimism concerning the outcome of the war is not a matter regarding which the peoples of the Allied Nations, especially the American and British peoples, need reassurance in words.

It is elimination of the substantial causes for his pessimism which concerns us all. As Mr. Churchill himself has said, it is not a question IF we will win the war, but simply WHEN—and he might have added HOW and WHERE.

He further said, however, that with good management we will win the war SOONER than with bad management—a truthful if not over brilliant statement.

THEREFORE, FOR FURTHER CONDUCT OF THE WAR, IT IS A BETTER EXAMPLE OF GOOD MANAGEMENT BY BOTH ENGLAND AND AMERICA WHICH IS BESPOKEN —MUCH BETTER THAN THE THOROUGHLY BAD MANAGEMENT THUS FAR ATTENDING THE WAR IN THE PACIFIC AND THE INADEQUATE PREPARATIONS FOR IT.

Love is its own loveliness always

ABOVE in answer to request for poem for a husband to enclose with a golden wedding anniversary gift. If you like it, sir, you could save it for your golden wedding day.

A PRACTICE to be deplored is that of revealing in print what male film stars wear wigs. These gentlemen are merely trying to preserve their earning capacity and to keep on playing the parts for which they are best fitted. Why embarrass them? . . . The Nipponese and Nazis are learning about "secret weapons" from the United States. And they haven't seen the half of them yet. Yankee inventors have certainly done their bit . . . Many women of 40 who think they have made themselves look younger have in reality caused themselves to look older by trying to look too young. It takes a woman of genius to look younger without making herself appear silly and kittenish.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Clara Bow, the original Brooklyn bonfire, was also the film's first "sweater girl" . . . Newlywed Rosalind Russell is learning to cook and prepares one dinner a week without assistance. Her husband came into the kitchen the other day and asked: "What are you cooking, Rozzie, darling?" and Rosalind answered: "Biscuits. And no wisecracks, please."

SIDELIGHTS: "Do you remember the comic strip, Alphonse and Gaston?" asks a Chicagoan. I'll say I do. I also remember the Newlyweds, their baby. Buster Brown and his dog Tige, Mike and Ike, they look alike and the Hallroom Boys . . . Says Joan Bennett: "I wish all men would cultivate a sensitivity to mood. Then they would never spoil a lovely moment. Men should also give more attention to good grooming, have more appreciation for what women do for them, strive to be mentally mature and be more chivalrous." Looks as if Joan is kind of nagging us boys. But let us try to do better, gentlemen. I am a little vague on that sensitivity to mood stuff, but I will ask Joan about it the next time I see her.

PASSING BY: Bob Hope. Was named Lester by his parents, but switched to Bob. Has six brothers and no sisters. Employs six gag men to think up funny things for him to say. Made his first hit singing "Thanks For the Memory" . . . Charles F. Kettering. Autoists should ever and anon say a prayer of thanks to him. He invented the self-starter. Did you ever have to crank a car on a cold winter's night? Or a hot summer afternoon? When Mr. Kettering finds himself worrying too much or dwelling too greatly on the war news he gets his mind off it by taking his watch apart and putting it together again . . . Edith Wilk Willkie. Who several astrologers predict will be our next first lady. Mrs. Willkie is 5 feet 2 and a half inches tall, has brown hair and blue eyes. Has been married 25 years. Was a war bride as right after the marriage her husband went to France with the AEF. The Willkies spent the first year of their married life together at Akron, Ohio, and their income was then $50 a week. "My married life has been perfect," says Mrs. Willkie, "except for one thing. My husband would never learn to dance."

WOMEN, ETC.: Women are more economical than men. Anyway, that's the general belief. But take a recent investigation which shows that the cigarette butts thrown away by men average one and three-sixteenths of an inch, while those tossed away by women average one and six-sixteenths of a ninch. A woman throws away the equivalent of 10 of every 20 cigarettes she smokes. A man only eight out of 20. Get a few of your wife's cigarette butts and a tape measure. If these butts are one and six-sixteenths inches long, save them. Then when the little lady accuses you of spending too much money whip out the cigarette butt collection and say: "You speak to me of extravagance. Look at the length of these cigarette butts. It's outrageous!"

PLEASE NOTE: To ascertain whether a diamond or pearl is the real thing touch it with dry ice. If it squeaks it is genuine . . . A 100-horsepower motor does the work of 300 horses. You could use that as an answer to one of those pests who greets you with "what do you know?" . . . Says James A. Farley: "I don't know whether the fact that I chew gum played any part in my success, but it was not a retarding factor." It is said secretaries who chew gum are the most accurate at taking dictation and the fastest typists. So if your secretary chews gum don't object.

ASIDES: Bobby Britton, Son of Jack Britton, the former welterweight boxing champion. You remember, Jack, don't you? The fellow who was always fighting Ted "Kid" Lewis. I think Britton fought Lewis 14 times . . . Anita Stewart. One of the first of the many Brooklyn girls who became film stars. Somebody should write a book about the Brooklyn girls on the screen and call it: "From Stewart to Stanwyck" . . . Izri Lederer, hamburger sandwich retailing genius. "So you think you can start a hamburger place with $500," says he to me. "Our new place in Chicago cost $40,000 to start and the one in Boston required $60,000. So how do you think you can start with $500?" says I: "How about my starting the same way you started that six stool place you had in Bloomington, Ind.?" That stopped him. He better not push me too far or I will become serious about that hamburger place idea and give him some tough competition.

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

EXCLUSIVE: Uncle Sam's big blue pencil has gone to work, and some heavy xxxxxxxx-marks are being applied to material being used by vaudeville and nightclub acts . . . Georgie Price, for instance, has been ordered to delete his song about an army tailor of the swish-swish persuasion, and the number was taken out of his act at the Strand Theater in New York . . . (The objectionable tailor of the Price song was stationed at Camp Edwards, according to the lyric) . . . A touring Hawaiian unit has been told to cease referring to Pearl Harbor . . . Of paramount importance, an immediate stop is going to be put to building low comedies around the imaginary buffoonery which goes on in the ranks of the U. S. armed forces . . . We hear from an authoritative source that picture companies already have been advised of the official attitude on this particular matter . . . Pictures already released will not be affected.

THE BOSTON BOSS of the RFC, Jack Hagerty, got a fair start toward a political career—elective, that is, at the Garden during the President's Ball . . . He was introduced over a national hook-up, and had two minutes of radio time with which to acquaint the voters with his voice . . . Mr. Hagerty's asserted ambition to be Governor isn't expected to be advanced this Fall if his friend, U. S. Atty. Ed Brandon decides to run . . . Bill Boyle's orchestra got a brief airing on the Birthday Ball coast-to-coast network . . . Following Glenn Miller, and preceding Johnny Long is not the softest spot for a musical aggregation in its first important radio chore, but the Boyle boys compared very well with the competition.

BOSTON AND FLORIDA MERGED gracefully in Miami Beach when Lou Walter's Latin Quarter played official host to the President's Ball in that state . . . Governor Holland and all the mayors of important cities in the Alligator State attended . . . Adriel Bird, the Boston coffee-magnate, won a charity raffle, proceeds—of course—being devoted to the infantile paralysis fund . . . The prize was a watch, and the Bostonian gave it right back so another raffle could be held . . . The horses and charity raffles are the absolute limit in gambling in Florida so far this season, and the horses must be played at the track, and not in horse-rooms . . . The last word on the situation, however, is this: The state will be wide open throughout February (—if an important Miami newspaper can be called off, "in the interest of business" . . .) Sammy Walsh, of the Back Bay Walshes, opened at the Casanova Club in Miami last night . . . Harry Richman—who avowed a month ago that he had no intention of working this winter—opens at the Latin Quarter Feb. 10 . . . Harry has

The Hassett-men launched a Sunday program called "Defense Varieties" . . . It is a tribute not only to the talent, but to the esprit de corps of the organization, that the program is still going on . . . BETTE DAVIS MAY ADOPT BABY

By Louella O. Parsons

Bette Davis

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31—Have you read "The Strange Woman," by Ben Ames Williams? It came out a few months ago and all of a sudden is the most popular reading in our town. Maybe that's why Hal Wallis decided to buy it for Bette Davis. When he went East, this book, which he had just finished reading, was on his list. The rumor that Bette and her husband, Arthur Farnsworth, have dated the stork has been denied, but some of Bette's closest friends believe she will adopt a baby. She wants a child more than anything else in the world and if she doesn't have one of her own it's the firm belief of those close to her that she will give some little one a home—and very soon.

ARNOLD PRESSBURGER, impresario of "The Shanghai Gesture," isn't letting critical raps cramp his production style. In the first place, this muchly maligned movie is cleaning up and in the second place, through a deal with Richard K. Polimer, Pressburger has just acquired "Tomorrow Never Comes," the story Frank Capra was to have made for 20th before the Army got him. If it's good enough for Capra it's bound to be a top story, and I hear tell Frank pocketed a pretty penny through the sale to Pressburger. Yarn deals with a man who, through a great kindness, is mysteriously rewarded with a copy of tomorrow's newspaper on his doorstep every day. Cary Grant is in line for the starring role—isn't he for every big picture coming up?

JOHN PAYNE, who got out of Hollywood as fast as possible after his break up with Anne Shirley, won't have as much time to "forget" in the East as he expected. He said at the time they parted he wanted to stay back there as long as possible—for don't let anyone tell you that he isn't pretty well broken up. But studio contracts are contracts—and John is being paged in Washington to return as soon as possible after the President's Ball to report for "White Collars."

ONE OF THE hardest working gals for Uncle Sam is Carole Landis, who spends about 16 hours a day on one job or another. The nice part about it Carole never talks about what she is doing but really puts her shoulders to the wheel. She is in more branches of the service than any other actress and, moreover, she is working at 20th Century-Fox studio every day. Her next assignment is the lead opposite Pat O'Brien in "Manila Calling."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Strong rumor that Jackie Moran and Mildred Schenck were married two months ago at Las Vegas, Nev.; Jane Russell is wearing an engagement ring put on her finger by Bob Waterfield, U.C.L.A. quarterback; Walter Huston goes to Washington to broadcast a sketch from the Congressional Library on Lincoln's Birthday. He will play Honest Abe; an invitation to the golden wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leander McDonald Sunday. They wrote they were in vaudeville when vaudeville "was." Sorry, I must go to the country to rest over the week-end because I would like to meet Sadie and Charlie; John Carradine is going to have a chance to do Shakespeare again. He goes to New York in a few weeks to play in "Richard III." Geraldine Fitzgerald moved into the Boris Karloff house and every time the door opens a sculptured "Frankenstein" lights up with eyes glaring; Maureen O'Hara is home sick with the flu and out of the cast of "Ten Gentlemen from West Point" for a few days; Tony Martin, singing a solo at Charley Foy's for the paying customers. He returns to camp tomorrow. That's all for today. But Jack Durant says: "Buy a bond—your dough will help bomb Tokyo."

Hank Gowdy ad War Days

HANK GOWDY will can the memories of baseball people back to the war days of 1917 when he speaks at the New York Baseball Write' Ass'n. dinner on Sunday night. With World War No.2 blazing throughout the world, baseball leaders and fas will be interested in getting Gowdy's reactions on th case of Ball Players and Military Service.

Gowdy had been the crack catcher of the 1914 world's championship Braves that were nanaged by George Stallings. His handling of Bill James, Dick Rudolph and Lefty Tyler assisted greatly the effectiveness of this great trio.

On the baseball field, in the training camp, during the long train hops and when appearing at dinners with the ball club Gowdy was always full of fire and yet had time for jest and lighter things of life.

This writer traveled with the championship Braves and I got to know Gowdy well. He had an intense love for baseball, loyalty for his club and teammates and burning desire to win.

In 1917 when the United States entered the war, Gowdy was playing with the Braves. Baseball soon lost its importance with the famous star. He was more interested in the new Army Uncle Sam was building than in efforts to get players for a pennant winning club.

Hank came from Columbus, O., and in his home state the militia had been mustered into service. There was talk that it would soon be sent to France as part of the AEF.

Then came the flash over the news wires from Ohio.

"Hank Gowdy, Braves catcher, had enlisted with an Ohio regiment which is expected to soon leave for France."

In France, Gowdy fought with the Rainbow Division.

Hank was the first ballplayer to enlist, and when he returned from France he was a national hero. The fans of Boston headed by a Boston American committee showered him with a bundle of Liberty bonds and a silver service for his devoted mother.

Hank lost none of his fire or laughter in the war. He returned to baseball where he has remained ever since in various capacities.

• • •

Example for Others

Gowdy was an example for the baseball players of his period. Many of them later entered the service

Young ball players who may hear Gowdy speak Sunday night are sure to be thrilled by his words. They will feel that if they are called into military service that they will be playing on the greatest championship team in history, and one that is going to win all the world pennants.

Before the United States entered the war, ball players, like other professional athletes, were opposed to spending a year in Army service.

The ball players contended they were in good physical condition, that they only had a limited span of years in professional sports, that they had to make their money while they were in their prime, and that a year in the Army might hasten the end of their athletic careers.

There was not any particular rush on the part of athletes to get into the Army.

Then came Pearl Harbor and everything changed. Baseball, new contracts and pennants did not seem to mean so much.

Ball players who had often heard the cheers of thousands during important games found they were as patriotic as they were as young schoolboys when they saluted the flag at the opening of school exercises. They were figuring how best they could serve their country in the bigger game of war.

When Gowdy speaks on Sunday night, he will pull at the heartstrings of these players. I guarantee there will be many a big league star who will hear Gowdy talk of the position of the ball player and war who will not wait to be called under the selective service act They will go looking for recruiting officers. They will want to toss a few fast ones at the Japs and the other members of the Axis group.

HANK GOWDY
As 1917 Doughboy

Patriotism, war spirit and all the things that help to gain victory are as contagious as the measles. Especially if you are listening to a fellow like Hankus Pankus Gowdy telling you what he thinks one should do when there is a jam on and someone is trying to kick you out of your own home.

Williams' Decision

At the Baseball Writers' Dinner in Boston the other night, Eddie Collins made a very significant statement. He was referring to Ted Williams and his draft situation.

"Williams will do the right thing," said Collins.

Collins knows that the young home run hitter will enlist regardless of what ruling the draft board may make as to his final status.

Collins is a former service man himself, and today is assisting in home defense efforts along with other members of the American Legion. The "right thing" for a splendid physical specimen like Williams to do at a time like this in the opinion of the men who served in the last war would be to take his place in the ranks along with other millions of American boys.

You may be sure "The Kid" will do so.

Skaters Duel At Fens Sunday

The Metropolitan speed skating championships, under the joint sponsorship of the Bay State skating club of Boston and the Boston Park Department, will be held Sunday afternoon at Fens stadium.

Among the many leading clubs of New England to compete are Rhode Island skating club; Mirror Lake club of Fitchburg and Dartmouth College Skating Club.

MECHANIC ARTS DEFENDS SCHOOL 'Y' TRACK TITLE

Northeastern's 15th annual indoor interscholastic meet, the first major schoolboy get-together of the season, was to be contested today at the Boston Y. M. C. A., starting at 1:30 o'clock.

Close to 400 boys from 36 Bay State high schools were to participate in the revival of these games at the Huntington Avenue "Y" after a lapse of seven years This year's meet was forced to be switched from the Garden after seven years' competition because of the cancellation of the Prout meet which left the North Station playhouse unavailable.

As the scene shifts back to the site of the birth of this annual meet which started at the "Y" 15 years ago, so will the schoolboys be back shooting for the records established from 1928 to '34. The marks hung up at the Garden will have to be forgotten this year and the old ones taken out again.

NO STANDOUTS

Despite the lateness of the schoolboy track season and the fact that not too much is known of potential champions, today's meet should provide plenty of closely fought races. No defending champs are back and very few 1941 place winners will be competing.

There is no standout school and, as best could be compiled, at least five teams can walk off with the union.

Mechanic Arts, long a powerhouse among the Boston schools and the only city school to win the Northeastern games, will play the role of defending champions. Chances of the Artisans retaining their crown aren't too encouraging for most of their 1941 point-getters have been graduated.

Newton, six time winner, Boston English, Rindge Tech, Lawrence, Lowell and Brookline, a former meet champion which has entered the largest team, 29 boys, all have equal chance of winning.

CONCORD TWO-MAN TEAM

There is also the slight possibility of little Concord High, which was not entered last year, garnering enough points from its two-man team to walk off with team honors. This seems a bit farfetched but in Bill Ambrose, a 1000-yarder, and Tom McKenna, a 15-year-old sophomore 600-yarder, its entire team, Concord has practically sure winners.

Lack of a relay team will probably blast Concord's hopes, but should the other schools claw into each other, and spread out the points, there is a chance of the duo knexing the title for Concord with 10 points.

The most thrilling race of the day appears to be the 600, in which McKenna is pitted against Fran Kennedy, Rindge Tech's veteran campaigner.

The Concord sophomore, in his two appearances on the boards this year, has already proved a sensation. He copped the novice 600 in Malden in 1 minute 20 seconds, and last Saturday he won easily in the annual Boston "Y" meet. His field in his second effort included a number of collegians.

FITCHBURG GIRL SKATER DEFENDS NATIONAL TITLE

LA CROSSE, Wis., Jan. 31 (AP)—The board of control of the United States Amateur Skating Union convened today, several hours before the opening of the national outdoor speed skating championships, to study charges of professionalism against a defending national champion.

Peter Miller, of Chicago, president of the union, declined to reveal the name of the skater against whom the charges had been made by the coach of a rival team.

If the charges are upheld by the union's findings, the champion will be barred from defending his title.

Miller said an all-time record field of 280 skaters had been entered, far over the previous high of 200. He attributed this to the union's support of a "physical fitness through skating" program and to "harmony within the union."

A crowd of 5000 was expected to witness preliminary events today and 10,000 the finals tomorrow.

Ken Bartholomew of Minneapolis, and Carmelita Landry, of Fitchburg, Mass., who successfully defended their North American senior men's and women's titles at St. Paul last week, were favored to repeat 1941 conquests in the nationals.

ABE SIMON TO WED

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Abe Simon, New York heavyweight boxer and Rita Siebel, announced they plan to wed, Feb. 7.

3 Hub Skaters Qualify in N. Y.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31—Dorothy Glazier of the Skating Club of Boston finished second in school figures in the senior girls' class for the eastern championships.

Roberta Jenks, also of the Skating Club of Boston, was third, Dorothy Goos of New York Skating Club having topped the field. Betsy Nichols of the Boston Club was fifth and Fay Kirby, also of that club, was seventh.

This, of course, means that the three top Skating Club of Boston entrants all have a splendid chance of winning out in the free skating this evening and thus finishing atop the field. Gretchen Merrill of the Skating Club of Boston was obliged to withdraw because of illness and did not compete.

The finals in the senior and junior classes will be held today. The only Boston entry to finish in the first five of the men's novice was Jack Richardson of the Commonwealth Club.

B. C. Frosh Uncover 'Double Duty' Athlete

Jimmy Ronayne, Boston College freshman, is a versatile athlete. He proved it yesterday at Danvers where the Eaglet hockey and track teams met and defeated St. John's Prep teams.

Jimmy, who was a valuable member of the freshman backfield last fall, competed for both teams.

He started the day in goal for the hockey team which, paced by Jack Cunniff who scored four goals and assisted the same number of times, swamped the 'preppers' 15-2.

After a couple of periods Coach Bob Mee gave Ronayne the rest of the day off. Jimmy donned track equipment, entered the track meet in the high jump and picked up five points for the Eaglets when he tied with teammate Johnny Killelea. The latter was also a member of the frosh football team.

P. S.: Master Ronayne is also a baseball player of ability. Jimmy graduated from B. C. High School where he starred in football and baseball.

'Deacon' Sees Reds Back in Flag Fight

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 31 (AP)—Mgr. Bill McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds made a few observations about baseball today, mainly about his own players, and if things go the way he sees them the other National League teams may have some trouble on their hands.

Among other things, he observed:

1—Most of the players are married and have families, and the club is not likely to lose a single key player to the draft.

2—The Reds could use a hard-hitting outfielder and he will attend the major league meetings in New York Feb. 3 in the hopes of making a deal for one.

3—Whether they get the new outfielder or not, the Reds' chances in the 1942 pennant race are "pretty good."

REDS MAY WAKE UP

In view of McKechnie's reluctance to predict the outcome of pennant races, observation No. 3 might be regarded as a forecast that the Rhinelanders would snap out of their 1941 lethargy and jump right back into the thick of the pennant race.

The Reds' need for more punch among the fly chasers is a matter of record—their eight players in that department averaged only .257 last year. However, the Deacon was optimistic that his outfield would improve over last season with or without the transfusion of new blood.

The recent acquisition of Rollie Hemsley is expected to help solve the club's catching problem, he said.

HAAS REPLACES WEEBER

Bert Haas, flashy third baseman purchased from Columbus of the American Ass'n, is already ticketed for the position vacated by the sale of Bill Werber to the New York Giants.

As for pitching, the Deacon modestly admitted the Reds' mound staff "should be as good as any in the league this year."

McKechnie said he planned to use five starters—Paul Derringer, Bucky Walters, Elmer Riddle, Johnny Vander Meer and Gene Thompson—instead of the usual four.

Five Yankees In U. S. Forces

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (INS)—As unruffled and calm as though he had just won another World Series, Manager Joe McCarthy of the champion Yankees today was of the opinion the Yankees would do all right this season.

He admitted baseball seemed to face an uncertain future and said the Yanks already had lost four players, and probably would lose another to Uncle Sam's forces.

Those already in military uniforms are Johnny Sturm, regular first baseman; Steve Peek and Charlie Stanceu, pitchers, and Ken Silvestri, third-string catcher. Tommy Henrich, star outfielder, is in 1-A and expects to be called before the season starts.

McCarthy said Buddy Hassett would be given a chance at the first-base job, and in the event he does not come up to requirements Gerald Priddy will get the opportunity.

McCarthy came from his home in Buffalo to attend the baseball meetings. He declined to predict another pennant for the Yanks, but said he was confident the Bronx Bombers would give a good account of themselves.

'Cookie' Lavagetto In Naval Aviation

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31 (INS)—Harry "Cookie" Lavagetto, Brooklyn Dodger third baseman, was as good as in the Navy today.

Lavagetto, whose home is across the bay in Oakland, passed the Navy physical examination and, since he expressed interest in aviation, was advised he probably will be stationed at the Alameda air base within a few days.

BENEFIT DAY AT HIALEAH NETS $30,000

By the Associated Press

The Miami Jockey Club divided more than $30,000 among four relief agencies today, the result of yesterday's war benefit program at Hialeah Park, which drew a crowd of 12,680.

The organizations which received an estimated $8000 each were the American Red Cross, the Navy Relief Society, the Army Relief Society and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Hal Price Headley's Third Covey surprised the big crowd by scoring a three-length victory in the $2000 feature event, the President's Birthday Handicap, a one-mile test for exceptionally high grade platers valued at $7500.

The Supremus 5-year-old defeated J. H. Miles' Peep Show to bring his Kentucky owner $1400 and a $1000 defense bond as an added prize, and paid his backers $18.20 for $2. Mrs. A. K. Weat's Bucking finished third, four lengths behind Peep Show.

Headley immediately donated his defense bond to the charity fund, which also included $3855 from Hialeah horsemen, $325 from other sources and the entire proceeds from the track and concessions as well as the commission on mutuel wagering.

An added feature of Hialeah's war benefit program was a "parade of stars," featuring some of the turf's most famous money-winners.

Four of the scheduled participants developed jitters, however, and were not allowed to parade befor the customers.

The turf heroes which walked to the head of the stretch and cantered from the eighth pole to the finish line with their riders sporting stable silks were:

W. L. Brann's Pictor, Samuel Riddle's War Relic, Mrs. C. S. Payson's Amphitheatre, Mrs. Payne Whitney's Devil Diver, Lou Tufano's Market Wise, Royce Martin's Our Boots, E. R. Bradley's Bless Me, A. T. Jergins' Peruvian Star, Meissen, and Mrs. Albert Sabath's Alsab.

Charles S. Howard's Mioland and Porter's Cap, which arrived from California a few hours earlier, were too nervous to enter the procession. Brann's big bay champion, Challedon, and B. F. Whitaker's Requested also were withdrawn at the last minute.

Mioland and Porter's Cap headed the seven thoroughbreds which Tom Smith unloaded at Tropical Park yesterday after an uneventful trip from Santa Anita.

Six of the group belonged to Charles Howard, while the other, Perceptor II, was the property of Bang Crosby and Lin Howard.

Only member of the outfit who didn't arrive in perfect shape was Trainer Smith, still hobbling as the result of a recent toe amputation.

Mioland, full of life from his long trip, broke away from his handler while being photographed and galloped about the stabling enclosure for a while. When captured he was none the worse for his frolic.

Leahy, Brown Voted Coaches Of the Year

DETROIT, Jan. 31 (AP)—Leading a football team to an undefeated season or out of the doldrums is one sure way to athletic recognition.

At least, that's the way Frank Leahy of Notre Dame and Paul Brown of Ohio State look at it.

Leahy, whose first team at South Bend was tied only by Army, and Brown, who left a high school coaching job to carry Ohio State to a winning season, heard themselves proclaimed as "coaches of the year" at the Detroit Yacht Club's ninth annual All-American sports dinner last night.

Both received plaques as did Vince Banonis, University of Detroit football center, and Bo Westfall, University of Michigan fullback.

Brotherly Cooperation Paying Dividends

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 31 (AP)—Brotherly cooperation is paying dividends for the McKee's Bakers, independent basketball team.

Its starting lineup includes brothers Ken and Palmer King and brothers Howard, Delano and Ken Fox. Among the reserves is brother Everett Fox.

The McKees thumped the University of Oregon Freshmen, 72 to 53, this week—the first defeat for the frosh.

DiMag Dad Hit By Alien Rule

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31 (INS)—Joe DiMaggio, Sr., father of America's brightest baseball luminary, was among an estimated 1400 Italian aliens hit today by the removal order affecting Axis nationals living along San Francisco's waterfront.

The elder DiMaggio's swank fish "grotto" restaurant—built largely from funds supplied by the Yankee's current king of swat, and his brother, Vince DiMaggio—lies within the area proscribed by Attorney General Francis Biddle.

Both Papa and Mama DiMaggio and the eldest of their nine children were born in Italy. Their home, however, lies two blocks beyond the restricted boundaries and will be unaffected.

Some officials estimated the restriction order would cut off the livelihood of 1400 of the 2000 men employed in San Francisco's $500,000 a year fishing industry.

TABOR TO START SOUTH EARLY; ALL-STAR THIRD-SACKER HIS GOAL

By HERB FINNEGAN

The baseball season can't come fast enough for Jim Tabor. The 6—1 Red Sox third baseman plans to get away for the Sarasota training camp a week or two before Feb. 26 when the Sox pitchers are scheduled to report.

Jim has been wintering in Boston. He's an Alabaman by birth and never before spent the off season in this section. It's been a little cold for him, as well it might be, and he's anxious to get under Florida's tropical sun and "thaw out."

He has been living on Trapelo rd. in the Rogers Park section of Brighton with his wife, the former Irene Bryant of Boston, and daughter, Virginia Irene, who was born last March 2 while Jim was in the Southland.

TWO GRAND SLAMS

Tabe has spent three full seasons with the Sox and has contributed some rare batting feats. For example:

In 1939 on the afternoon of July 4 he equalled two major league records in a doubleheader with the A's at Shibe Park. He homered twice with the bases full in the nightcap to equal Tony Lazeri's record and that same day tied a mark held jointly by Jimmy Foxx and Earl Averill when he made four home runs in the twin bill.

That year, his first full season in the majors, he batted .289 and knocked in 95 runs, a rare trick for a freshman. In the course of this procedure he had 14 home runs to his credit.

In 1940, his second year, he boosted his home run output to 21 the while hitting .285 and knocking in 81 runs. He missed 34 games that year, otherwise his home run and RBI totals would have been considerably higher.

'MADE OF RAWHIDE'

That was the year he earned the nomenclature of "Rawhide."

Operated on Aug. 22 for appendicitis, Tabe surprised his teammates by appearing in the Sox clubhouse eight days after the operation.

"He's made of rawhide," opined outfielder Roger Cramer.

Last July, after a 10-day layoff in the West due to a sore knee and shoulder, Tabe went on a hitting spree at Fenway Park.

In five games, three with the White Sox and two with Cleveland, the hustling product of Alabama University batted in 17 runs with four homers, three doubles and two singles.

It was during this stretch that Grove won his 300th game, and although Jimmy Foxx drove in the winning run with a monstrous triple, Tabe previously had kept Grove in the game by homering twice.

At that particular stage of the season he had 78 R. B. I., and was trailing only Joe DiMaggio and Charlie Keller of the Yanks in this department. He was ahead of Foxx, Cronin and Williams. But another injury forced him out for a spell and kept his season's R. B. I. output to 101. As it was, the only Sox to lead him in this respect were Williams (120) and Foxx (105). He made 16 home runs during the season.

SHOULD BE HIS YEAR

Tabe plans to make this his best year yet, and has a double incentive to make good.

Ted Williams may be missing, and he wants to take up some of the hitting slack if Ted does get called into the Army. Also, he wants to be the league's all-star third baseman.

He has all the qualifications, and, given a good break here and there, particularly in the matter of injuries, he can cop the honor hands down. In fact, his teammates swear he was the best third baseman in the league last year.

"I've had a nasty cold for the past month," he said today, "but I feel in the pink now. I've been taking long walks to keep my legs in shape and my weight down, and need only to get in a little running to be ready."

Pastor Wants Outdoor Shot At Louis' Title

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—By proving to the hometown folks, at long last, that as a fighter he's not a laundryman, Rapid Robert Pastor popped up today as the first flailer to earn three shots at Joe Louis.

But in spite of the neat exhibition in the science of smashing noses with which he just about slapped the ears off Gus Lesnevich for 10 rounds in Madison Square Garden last night, Rapid Robert is not going to get that third chance the next time the Bomber goes to the post, in March.

For, after Robert gave the rugged Russian a post-graduate course in speed and ring generalship, it became known that the March heavyweight title tea-party Promoter Mike Jacobs in cooking up for army relief will find either Melio Bettina, the Beacon (N. Y.) southpaw, or ample Abraham Simon, the Long Island policeman, being served up to the Bomber. The Simon set-up hinges on whether ample Abe can hit the jackpot against Harry Bobo in Pittsburgh in their forthcoming frolic.

Meanwhile Bob, who went the 10-round route on a bicycle with Louis once and then lasted 11 more heats the next time, is holding out for an outdoor crack at the No. 1 boy, probably in September.

WOODSTOCK, Vt., Jan. 31 (AP)—The Williams College ski forces captured team and individual honors here when its transplanted winter carnival meet opened yesterday with the cross-country race.

The event was won by Dave Brown, a junior from Utica, N. Y., and three of his Williams teammates placed in the first 10.

Williams finished the first day's competition with 98.33 points to 94.19 for Dartmouth, 91.49 for Middlebury, 84.54 for Norwich and 57.16 for Harvard.

'Lefty' Grove Visits Boston; Still Eager to Play

Ol' Mose Grove, only major league pitcher with 300 victories to his credit, was in town today on his annual mid-winter visit to see Tom Kenney and Eddie Collins of the Red Sox.

The big left-hander, released by the Sox at season's end, sat at the head table at the Philadelphia Baseball Writers' dinner Thursday night, then drove over to Boston leisurely, arriving last night.

He planned to visit Eddie Collins and his other friends at Fenway Park today, and return to his Lonaconing, Md., mountain home on the week-end.

Grove still hopes to pitch this year—if not with the Sox with some other major league club. He needs only four more victories to reach Eddie Plank's 304 major league record, the record for a southpaw.

Plank won 325 games but 21 of these were won while he was pitching for the outlawed Federal League in 1915.

Superstitious Eagles Await Dartmouth Game

The Boston College hockey team is leaving no stones unturned in their earnest preparation for their Monday night "crucial" with Dartmouth at the Garden. The lads have even gone in for the "superstition stuff."

Some of the squad still wear stockings pock-marked with holes picked up along their six straight win route. Others will wield sticks chipped in the heat of red hot action since the season started with a conquest of Yale.

Jimmy Edgeworth, he's the grinning blond boy seen in the picture above, will play minus two of his front teeth. The happy-go-lucky sophomore member of the second line lost the ivories in practice three days before the Eagles opened with Yale. The Eagles surprised the college hockey world in that game when they floored the highly favored Elis 4-3.

OVERRULES DOCTOR

"My 'space' was our good luck charm," announced Edgeworth after the Yale game. The Wellesley graduate of B. C. High then proceeded to forget about the connection between his departed teeth and the conquest of Yale.

James went to his dentist, was treated regularly, and finally the medico announced that his gums had healed sufficiently to permit replacing the missing teeth with a plate. The dentist wanted to finish his work this week.

Edgeworth overruled the medico.

"You'll have to wait until the first of next week doctor," said the good-looking youngster from Wellesley.

"We've won six straight games since I lost my teeth. I don't intend to tempt fate with a new plate in my face the night we play Dartmouth."

Perhaps you're beginning to understand B. C.'s attitude toward the Indian game.

The Eagles held their fifth practice session of the week yesterday afternoon at the Arena. A red hot intra-squad scrimmage was the order of the day.

Capt. Ralph Powers, who sustained a nasty gash on his right ankle last week saw some service in the scrimmage. The Eagle leader was out of action for a week prior to yesterday's workout.

B. C. BEST IN "TWENTIES"

After the scrimmage, Powers announced that his injury was "mending rapidly," and that he expected to be at right wing when the whistle sends his team into action against Dartmouth.

A conquest Monday and another over Northeastern, which the Eagles meet the following night at the Arena, will go a long way toward aiding Powers in his desire to lead B. C.'s first undefeated sextet since the early "Twenties" when the Chestnut Hill college was "tops" in the national collegiate ice picture.

NATICK'S LEAD SEEMS SAFE IN ARENA GAME

The Eastern Mass. Interscholastic Hockey League meets at the Arena this evening for its eighth weekly round-up with the first game starting at 7 o'clock.

Natick High, undefeated in league competition, sporting four wins, has mediocre Brookline as an opponent in the opening game; Lexington has its sights set for cellarite Somerville; high-flying Wakefield squares off with Hudson, and Dedham mixes with Malden, in the other games on the docket.

OFF FORM LAST WEEK

The league lead seems to be resting safely in the hands of Natick as the Red, White and Blue sextet should have little difficulty with Brookline. Although the Wealthy Towners have copped a pair of verdicts this season, they have been won against two of the weakest clubs in the circuit, Somerville and Malden.

Dedham suffered a lapse of form in its last start with Hudson and was severely trounced. But if past performances rate as any accurate judge of ability, it will trample Malden.

LEXINGTON SHOULD WIN

Wakefield, the team to be feared even more than Dedham, has clinched its last three starts after dropping an early season engagement to Dedham. Wakefield, without any outstanding performers on the roster, has iced the most resolved ice team in the league. Through sheer courage, Wakefield has recovered from early season interleague setbacks to return in a blaze of glory to go into a deadlock with Dedham for the second place position.

Lexington, last season's runner up for the Esmass crown, have dropped to sixth place in the current standings but should annex its second win of the campaign with Somerville as its opponent.

Good-Wins Play Harlem Yanks

The basketball classic of the year is anticipated when the Harlem Colored Yankees, undefeated in their last 20 games, play the Boston Good-Wins, also undefeated in more than a month, in the second game of the doubleheader for the President's Infantile Fund at Mechanics Building Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A preliminary game matches the Eagles, comprising the Boston College football stars of the past fall, and Fort Devens.

Harlem Yankees defeated the Good-Wins by 10 points over a month ago, but the New England champions were minus the services of their outstanding stars, Ed "Moose" Krause, All-America center from Notre Dame, and Leo Kane, who right now is rated as the outstanding player in the New York State League. With Krause, Kane and Brenner in the front court, the Good-Wins will present their strongest offensive

Watertown Sextet Faces Drop Off Top

A fast and furious session of the Bay State Hockey League is on tap at Boston Arena this afternoon with clashes between eight schoolboy sextets and the bare chance that league-leading Watertown may be dethroned.

The festivities start at 1 o'clock when Framingham and Needham, second place holders, tangle. Other games to follow are Waltham vs. Quincy, Boston College High vs. Walpole and Watertown vs. Wellesley.

All eyes are on Watertown, now leading the league by the narrow margin of a single point. The leaders are meeting a fast-moving bunch of puck-jugglers in Wellesley, while Needham meets a very weak Framingham team.

A more evenly matched contest will see Boston College High attempt to get back into the win column at the expense of Walpole, following last week's loss to Quincy. Walpole has had steady, rapid improvement all season.

The Quincy and Waltham tilt is another clash which seems headed for plenty of thrills before a decision is reached.

Olympics Play N. J. Skeeters

RIVER VALE, N. J., Jan. 31—The league leading Boston Olympics, 3-2 winners over the Atlantic City Sea Gulls last night in the latter's home rink, were scheduled to meet the River Vale Skeeters here tonight in an Eastern League clash.

Jack McGill, leading scorer of the Pics, whistled home an unassisted goal at 12:05 of the third period to crack a deadlock and beat the Gulls after Ty Anderson put the clubs on even terms early in the final frame. Gerry Desrosiers was the other goal getter for the Boston club.

English Runners Beat Dorchester, Memorial

By sheer weight of numbers, Bill Ohrenberger's English High trackmen chalked up 219 points to waltz away with the triangular meet honors for the day among English, Dorchester and Memorial at the East Armory yesterday afternoon.

The Green of Memorial finished second with 111 digits and Dorchester brought up the rear with a mere 22 markers.

Loss of Kraut Line Shocks Fans

In all probability, Mickie Harris, Red Sox southpaw, doesn't realize that he's a member of one of the oldest Coast Artillery Corps in the U. S. service. He was sent to Panama, Canal Zone, with the 83d C. A. C.

The original 83d was assigned to Fort Revere at Hull in the fall of 1902 and was comprised, for the most part, of veterans from the "Islands." The survivors of the old 83d Co. went overseas with the 55th C. A. C. in 1917.

If the current 83d is anything like the old 83d, Mickie is in a great outfit . . . Judge James Dooley put on quite a party for his old pal Jimmy Conzelman at his home in Providence the night after the Baseball Writers' dinner.

It was a terrible shock to the hockey fans when they realized that they'd seen the Krauts in action for the last time . . . Bobby Bauer and Milt Schmidt left last night to join the Bruins in Toronto and much to their regret they missed the Ecclestone Memorial . . . Woody Dumart remained here.

Bobby will return with the team to play against Americans tomorrow night at the Garden but "Schmiddy" will go to his home at Kitchener, Ont. After the Americans game, Bobby and Woody will go to Toronto, where they will report for duty on Tuesday . . . Although the war broke up the Kraut line, Bobby Bauer, Milt Schmidt and Woody Dumart will always remain a very pleasant memory in the minds of all of the present day hockey fans.

Miss Boat

Monte Dutra, brother of the former U. S. open titleholder, has a son who's a bandmaster . . . Fred Phillips, Hillerick and Bradeby's New England representative, has a new line to go along with his golf equipment and Louisville sluggers . . . It is night sticks . . .

The Boston School Committee missed the boat on that basketball blitz . . . And if it isn't made to realise that Joe McKenney is exceptionally well qualified to handle his duties as associate physical director of the Boston high schools, its members are NOT qualified to hold their jobs.

During his short visit here, Tommy Holmes made many friends . . . Tommy is a fine ball player and he'll be a great asset to the Braves this season . . . And, Dick Newcom didn't harm the Red Sox cause . . . Dick is a great mixer and has a wonderful sense of humor . . . Wasn't surprised that Lefty Grove didn't remain for the writers' dinner . . . He's funny like that . . .

Had the Krauts followed a suggestion made to them by Frank Selke, via "Bingo" Kampman, they probably wouldn't have been called until after the season . . . They were told to enroll in the Toronto Scottish, of which William A. H. MacBrien is the honorary colonel . . . It was too much of a trip for them to journey from Kitchener to the Queen City . . . So they remain in the London District, which is the toughest of the entire Dominion . . . Dick Metz, Pete Langell and Wally Stanowski of the Leafs are all on 24 hour call.

LAST CHANCE TO SEE MOVIE 'SKI THREE'

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Any skiers who happen to be in the Franconia Notch Area, N. H., this week-end and who missed the great skiing film, "Ski Three, which was presented for the Red Cross benefit in Boston last Friday evening, will have their last chance to view this wonderful movie in the Franconia Town Hall tonight at 8:45 p. m., under sponsorship of the Franconia Ski Club.

At its Boston showing, the film was acclaimed by hundreds of enthusiasts to be the best that they had ever seen. The entire reels were photographed in color by five synchronized cameras, with sound accompaniment, and runs for one and one-half hours. Thirty-seven of America's best skiers are seen in downhill, slalom, jumping, and cross-country events which were held in the West last season. The continuity of "Ski Three" is also very clever, having a complete story running throughout the action.

Produced by Dr. Frank Howard, newly elected president of the California Ski Association, the movie presents ski life at its best. Besides being an expert cinematographer, Dr. Howard has displayed prowess as a ski racer and knows his powder. After this week-end, he will leave for California via Canada.

Arriving this noon at Plymouth, N. H., the Proparvulis Club, prominent Catholic girls' club of Boston, is taking over a large part of the Pemigewasset Hotel for their annual winter outing. From the time they step off the train, they will be kept active and interested by an extensive program which heads off with skiing and skating in the afternoon, one of Bob Aylward's famous country square dances in the evening, followed by a hot dog roast in the ski room.
